Blazing Guns in Strike Riot Kill One, Wound Four

PORTSMOUTH, O. (AP)—Blazing gunfire killed a company guard and wounded four men in fierce rioting today at the strike-closed Portsmouth works of the Wheeling Steel corporation. Set off by an attempt of the company to move food into one of its picket-besieged plants, bullets raked three-block long West street in New Boston, location of the corporation's giant plant, endangering women and children.

STRIKE EDICT IS ISSUED

Growers Refuse to Give In; Conference Is Planned Today

"Growers will make no concessions to striking pickers," Stuart Strathman, growers' representative, said today, in the face of increasing picketing and threats of further trouble.

Despite increased activity of agitators and strike-sympathizers, Strathman said, virtually the same number of workers as yesterday and Saturday are in the fields, and harvesting continues.

Strathman was in Santa Ana today for a conference with Ricardo Hill, Mexican consul, and Edward H. Fitzgerald, representative of the National Labor Relations council in Washington, D. C. Lucas Lucio, consular representative here, also was expected to attend.

"I am going to give them facts," Strathman said. "I think Fitzgerald is entitled to attempt to iron out differences here if he can, but growers can make no compromises and will offer no concessions. This is not an arbitration meeting."

Hill and Lucio were at the courthouse today with a delegation of Mexicans who reiterated their demands informally, but neither the consul nor his Santa Ana representative made any further statement in regard to their position on the Orange county strike.

Army Flier, Three Children Drown

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (AP)—The drowning of Captain Lindsay M. Bawel, an army flier, and three of his small children when they went overboard from the army transport Chateau Thierry near Cuba, was disclosed today by Captain Gordon S. Arnes at the Brooklyn army headquarters.

Captain Arnes said the tragedy occurred between 3 and 4 a. m. yesterday, and that the Brooklyn headquarters was given meager details in a wireless message from Maj. Gilmer Bell, in command of troops aboard the transport. The message did not explain how the tragedy occurred.

But Johnny Could Wash Behind Ears In the Meantime

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—Parents who require their children to bathe only once every two weeks are not neglectful, Superior Judge Martin I. Welsh ruled here in awarding William P. Smith part-time custody of his son, William, Jr.

"I well remember that it was not so long ago in Sacramento that nobody took a bath oftener than two weeks," the judge declared.

ASK F. D. R. TO NEWPORT
President Hopes He'll Make It

President Franklin D. Roosevelt is still hoping to make that visit to Newport harbor. Unable to stop there on his trip through Orange county last year, the New Deal leader today had reiterated his desire to see the development which federal funds have made possible in the local port.

Commodore Albert Solland, ambassador at large for the harbor, who is now at Washington, D. C., today sent a telegram to Harry Welch, secretary of the Newport harbor chamber of commerce, telling of his contact with the Chief Executive and of extending an in-invitation to visit the harbor. He said President Roosevelt hopes to come to this Coast late in the summer and that he repeated his desire to visit the port.

President Roosevelt, said the wire, sent his felicitations to this district upon the successful completion of the harbor project.

Commodore Solland will leave soon for a trip to Europe. He will carry with him his credentials as ambassador at large for Newport harbor.

Harbor has been given an engraved scroll entitling him to represent the harbor wherever he goes.

George White, district manager; Oakley Hall, in charge of placements in this district, and Miss G. Rubinstein, intake and certification director, all of San Diego, are in San Francisco today ironing out details of the new administration, Mulhron said.

In reference to the new alien rule, both Mulhron and Charles Fallert, head of the National Employment Service here, said today that no record of citizenship was kept on WPA rolls at the present time. The new rule probably will require the setting up of an addition to the bureau of certification and investigation.

Three members of the delegation which defeated a production-for-use plank pledged to Upton Sinclair expressed the belief.

They said they looked for a platform plank favoring a definite program of federal aid for self-help co-operatives, many of which have succeeded in Southern California.

They expressed belief, however, that no outright production-for-use plank would be proposed to the platform makers.

The three were J. Stitt Wilson, former Socialist mayor of Berkeley, the California member of the platform committee; Representative Thomas Ford, Los Angeles, and John C. Packard, Pasadena, a candidate for congress.

At a lengthy caucus last night, the delegation organized, re-electing U. S. Senator McAdoo, chairman, as national committeeman, electing Mrs. Lucretia Del Valle Grady, Berkeley, national committeewoman, and choosing California members of convention committees and posts, all unanimously.

Selection of convention alternates also was completed.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The justice department said today that Al Capone had been "slightly injured" when struck with a pair of scissors by another inmate of Alcatraz prison.

The official report of the attack on the Chicago gang leader, now serving a long prison term for violation of the income tax law, said:

"Warden James Johnston of the Alcatraz penitentiary reports that between 9:30 and 9:45 o'clock this morning (Santa Ana time), Alphonse Capone was slightly injured by James C. Lucas, a prisoner from Texas serving 30 years for bank robbery."

Stabbed at work between the clothing room and the shower room, Lucas had gone to the barber shop adjoining the clothing room, for a haircut. He grabbed up a pair of scissors and, running about 10 feet, wounded Capone in the back.

"The guard at once intervened. Lucas was placed in solitary confinement. Capone went to the institution hospital, where the assistant medical officer examined him and reports that the wound appears superficial."

Lucas gave as his motive for the assault his belief that Capone had informed against him. Capone stated that Lucas had impudently tried to arrange financial assistance for him. Capone said that he had refused to listen to these propositions.

Model Prisoner
Prison officials previously had indicated that Capone had been a "model" prisoner during his four years in the island penitentiary. Rumors of antagonism against him among other prisoners have been heard at various times, but officials heretofore had never confirmed them.

Capone was sentenced to 11 years in the penitentiary for violation of income tax laws.

His face graphically reflecting the responsibilities of his high position, His Majesty, King Edward VIII of Great Britain, today observed his 42nd birthday anniversary in London.

All London Cheers Its Monarch; Hitler Firs to Felicitate Him

LONDON, (AP)—London saluted King Edward's 42nd birthday with cheers and buttonhole sprays of flowers today.

Crowds gathered early to watch the monarch ride through the streets to the colorful ceremony of trooping the colors of his guards. Resplendent in a scarlet and gold full dress uniform, the king led the procession escorted by his three brothers.

Congratulations came from all parts of the world, the first arriving from Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler of Germany and Emperor Hirohito of Japan.

Edward honored his mother, Queen Mary, last night by conferring on her "the title and dignity of Dame Grand Cross of the Royal Victorian order."

MEXICANS TO LOSE JOBS

New WPA Ruling Will Drop Aliens From Relief Project Work

No more aliens will be given Works Progress Administration jobs after July 1. The order, affecting several hundred Mexicans here, will be made on receipt of the final text of the new federal relief act, expected by Thursday. County WPA Manager Dan Mulhron said today.

The order will not make any immediate difference in the Orange county setup, Mulhron said, as virtually all the 1000 Mexicans on WPA here have been released for seasonal agricultural labor.

However, he explained when they return for re-certification to WPA in the fall, a bureau will be set up to examine their credentials, and any not citizens of the country will be denied work.

Ricardo Hill, Mexican consul at Los Angeles, expressed belief that the rights of his nationals would be returned to Mexico as a result.

Further shortening of the case list is expected to result from a communication from Washington stating that, under the new $1-425,000,000 work relief appropriation, not more than 2,300,000 persons in the United States could be given jobs.

NEFF BUDGETS $1,000,000 ROAD JOBS

Plans Improvements For Eight Highways And Six Bridges

Highway Superintendent Nat Neff finished preparing a million dollar road and bridge budget for Orange county today.

The budget, providing for construction of half a dozen bridges, paving and resurfacing eight secondary highways and other improvements in the coming two years, totals $1,044,750. Neff will send the list of proposed expenditures to the state highway commission, to be included in its 1937-1939 list of proposed outlays.

South Main Extension
The commission will meet in Long Beach July 10 and will begin study of suggested expenditures for the next biennium.

Indicating possibility of completion in the near future of the extension of South Main street from Newport road to Corona Del Mar, the budget contains $25,000 for two or more bridge spans which will be necessary on that highway. The sum of $200,000 is set up for paving 6.4 miles from Corona Del Mar to Newport road for a width of 30 feet, to complete work now being done by the Works Progress administration.

Memory Lane Bridge
Completion of Manchester highway also is forecast in the budget, which includes an item of $114,750 for work from Miraflores junction on highway 101 between the county hospital and Anaheim, to the Orange - Los Angeles county line. This will include addition of

Roosevelt Paves Way for Local Flood Projects

All that remains in the way of actual start on the $13,000,000 flood control project for Orange county is the calling of a county bond election to provide funds. The purchase of rights-of-way. The board of supervisors was expected to tackle that problem this afternoon.

President Roosevelt yesterday put his signature on the $320,000,000 omnibus flood control bill containing authorization for the Orange county project.

The board of supervisors today is expected to take steps toward the appointment of appraisers to evaluate land which must be purchased for rights-of-way, flood easements and spreading works.

A battle over the personnel of the appraisal board is expected, with Supervisor N. E. West leading a fight for economies which he claims can be invoked, saving the county in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. The war department has indicated it is prepared to start surveys as soon as the county indicates its willingness to go ahead with the purchase of land.

Democrats Cheer Attack as They Open Convention

By EDWARD J. DUFFY

CONVENTION HALL, PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—At peace within, the Democratic convention assumed a warlike, unyielding attitude toward conservative and liberal opposition alike today in a fleeing but vibrant opening session.

The standards of all 48 states were waved in a tumultuous, parading demonstration for President Roosevelt which lasted 30 minutes. An unsmiling James A. Farley, himself always expressing confidence, warned the party cohorts against over-confidence while castigating the Republican

After hearing him praise the New Deal, the platform workers under Senator Bob Wagner of New York repaired again to their conference rooms to discuss the policies upon which the party this week-end will ask re-election of Roosevelt and Garner.

Task Not Easy
Their task was not as easy as they had hoped, but there was apparently no expectation of floor arguments such as have split the party on money, farm and labor questions in the past. It looked more than ever as though even the two-thirds nominating rule dispute would be a washout. Strong southerners joined the repealers.

Though divisions remained evident from private comments, no dissenters on hand showed the least inclination to join Alfred E. Smith in his "walk."

Raps League
Not naming Smith, Farley referred to him only obliquely by arraigning the American Liberty League. He repeated that the

After the waters calmed down, mutual friends exacted a half promise from Neblett to move over and stay with them and Cotton in another hotel suite, the Associated Press reported. Neblett was asked if he planned to stay where he had registered.

"No," said reflectively, "I guess I'll go over and sleep with Cotton." He expressed no fear that Ham's croaking over the victory would keep him awake.

The battle took place at a caucus of the California delegation. Reports from Philadelphia said Neblett was somewhat peeved at the outcome but did not concede defeat. In a half jocular vein he shouted to Cotton:

Cotton Bets 100 to 1
"Ham thinks he's going to be the Roosevelt campaign manager." "I'll bet you 100 to 1 I won't," Cotton croaked in reply.

"O, yeah?" Neblett retorted. "So far, no one has come into the open to explain the underlying cause of the strife. Everyone seems to agree, however, that it is a struggle to determine who will manage the campaign in California, and also to determine who will control patronage matters."

"Ham" Is Delegate
The issue on which the contest was decided last night was precipitated by a resolution offered by William Jennings Bryan, Jr., California delegate. The resolution, urging that control of the presidential contest be placed in the hands of the 48 delegates, carried with only slight opposition.

Under the resolution, convention alternates would not be eligible for the campaign committee or its chairmanship. Neblett is an alternate. Cotton is a delegate. That, apparently, entitled him to croak.

However, Neblett contended the resolution is merely a request and that the national committee itself will direct the campaign in California, operating through Senator McAdoo. It is expected that the latter may devote some time to studying the situation. It is said he not necessarily be governed by the resolution.

Karpis to Fight Kidnaping Count
ST. PAUL, (AP)—Alvin Karpis today formally decided to fight federal charges that he helped kidnap William Hamm, Jr., for $100,000 ransom, when he pleaded innocence on his arraignment in federal court.

Over the objection of defense counsel, the court set trial for July 14. Although Karpis also has been accused of the $200,000 abduction of Edward G. Bremer, he was arraigned on the Hamm indictments as were two other men.

PORTERVILLE, (AP)—Fire which spread to several buildings at Pine Flat resort caused damage estimated by CCC officials at $10,000.

Adding between 4000 and 5000 acres of orchard and farm land to the El Toro Soil Conservation demonstration area, the conservation association met at El Toro last night and voted to approve the application of Lemon Heights, Marcy Heights, Peters canyon, Orange Park acres and a portion of El Modena for inclusion in the district.

A meeting of the association will be held in the near future to outline necessary boundary changes and to make the changes on district maps. General Chairman Ben Osterman said today.

PROBE DEATH OF TRAFFIC VICTIMS

Inquests Held Today in Cases of Mary Lomeli, Frank Gonzales

The fate of two motorists held on negligent homicide charges depended in part today on the verdicts of two coroner's juries, investigating traffic deaths of Frank Gonzales and Mary Lomeli.

Adam Sepulveda, Corona, and Rudolph Meyer, Buena Park, are being held on homicide charges which allege they were drivers of cars which killed the two victims.

The girl was struck and killed Sunday night near Buena Park as she was walking along Whitaker avenue. Meyer was jailed as asserted driver of the car which struck her. An inquest into her death was scheduled for 2 p. m. today at the McAulay and Suters funeral home, Fullerton.

Gonzales, riding in a car with three other Mexicans asserted to have been participating in the orange pickers' strike, was fatally injured June 13 when the car, allegedly driven by Sepulveda, skidded and overturned on Piacentia-Yorba boulevard near Atwood. He died in the county hospital June 17 of a fractured skull. The inquest was set for 3 p. m. today at the McAulay and Suters mortuary.

league, which includes Smith and some former Democratic leaders, is a "Dupont" creature and backs the Republican ticket.

"Give 'em hell, Jim," cried one of the hundreds who stood up waving flags to make the vast auditorium floor a shifting brilliant panorama.

With Farley's climactic praise of the President as "capable and courageous," a rollicking, pell-mell procession got going around the aisles. Among the first standards hoisted were those of Rhode Island and other Eastern states which stayed with Smith against Roosevelt to the last in Chicago. Farley smiled broadly.

Glass Walks Out

One veteran convention figure was missing when the time for parading came. Sen. Carter Glass of Virginia, who fears he won't like the monetary plank, had left in the middle of the Farley address, frowning but saying nothing.

An official welcome from the city, a few routine announcements, and the session was over at 2:38 p. m. (Eastern Daylight Time) until 8 p. m., when Senator Barkley of Kentucky is to deliver the keynote address.

Almost the first words Farley spoke set off the emotions of his hearers. They rose to shout their approval when he said: "The New Deal is the issue for this campaign."

Ovation for F. D. R.

Again and again thereafter cheers rocked the convention hall as Farley praised the enemies of the New Deal. He was given a special standing ovation at his first mention of the President's name, when he said:

"The processes of recovery initiated and carried on by Franklin D. Roosevelt, shall not be interrupted."

The probable scope of the platform gave a slight touch of suspense to the proceedings which otherwise had little in common with the party combats of the past. When finally Senator Wagner turned up with the Farley draft, he offered no information to dispel the mass of contradictory rumors about monetary, farm and constitutional planks. He went to work with Secretary Wallace and others instead.

Roosevelt Platform

That it would be a Roosevelt platform was a foregone conclusion, and the renomination of Vice President Garner was regarded by most as fully as certain as the President's own.

An assertion in Boston by Gov. James M. Curley that he would accept the vice presidential nomination if it was offered, attracted no serious attention. Gov. Clyde L. Herring of Iowa, who had said he was mentioned for second place on the ticket, already had taken himself out.

The introductory ceremonies today were held to the Farley speech, an official welcome to this Republican stronghold by its Republican mayor, S. Davis Wilson, and bits of entertainment to keep the convention diverted when no business is at hand.

Convenes at 1:01

Farley rapped for order at 1:01 p. m. (Eastern Daylight Time). The invocation was pronounced by the Right Rev. Hugh L. Lamb, auxiliary bishop of the Catholic archdiocese of Philadelphia.

His silken, red cap gleaming atop his head, the bishop prayed for "ideals to make America the land of justice and freedom."

Then Farley had the convention stand for a minute "in solemn tribute to a great American, Will Rogers." Many in the jammed hall stood with lowered head, remembering in affection the many occasions when the humorist from the West had helped national conventions while away the hours with mirth and laughter.

A soloist, Frederick Jaeger, of the Metropolitan opera, rendered "The Star Spangled Banner," and Mayor Wilson welcomed the convention to Philadelphia.

Lambasts G. O. P.

To an assertion that the sole issue of the coming campaign was the continuance of the New Deal. Farley in his talk added a lashing attack upon both the nominees and the platform of the Republican party and a charge that they were the product of an effort to appear conservative in the East and liberal in the West.

"Behind the Republican ticket," he added, "is the crew of the Du Pont Liberty League and their allies, which have so far financed every undercover agency that has disgraced American politics with their appeals to race prejudice, religious intolerance, and personalities gross that they had to be repudiated even by the regular Republican organization."

With these assertions he coupled extended praise for the accomplishments of the New Deal and a prediction that the Democratic platform would be one to which the resolutions committee could commit itself "without laughing and swallow without choking."

"New Deal Is Issue"

"The continuance of the New Deal is the issue," Farley shouted to the delegates at the very outset of his remarks.

"The question before the American people is clear cut and cannot be disguised. That question is: Shall we continue the New Deal which has rescued our country from disaster and despair, or shall the government be turned back to the old dealers who wrecked it? There you have the issue stripped of all camouflage."

Calling upon the party for a vigorous campaign toward the goal of a tremendous Roosevelt majority, he asserted "that verdict must be so overwhelming, so conclusive, so compelling that nobody can doubt that the country is united in its determination that there shall be no backward step in our progress."

Raps G. O. P. Platform

The platform adopted by the Republicans at Cleveland, he said, was "unsurpassed in the history of party declarations for platitudes and vague promises," and again he said:

"Nobody takes the Cleveland platform seriously—not even our political adversaries."

Had the Republicans been sincere, he continued, they would have renominated former President Hoover who, Farley said, "represents the classical attitude of their party, and then we would have had a direct and frank contest before the American people of the New Deal and the old deal."

"Passed Hoover Up"

But they "passed him up," Farley added, "despite his impassioned stampeding scheme which naturally failed, for you cannot stampee an elephant securely chained to the picket posts of evasion and straddling."

Or, he continued, the Republicans could have chosen Senator Borah, "but he was earmarked with the stigma of liberalism." He added:

"So they had to find a candidate whom they could present as conservative enough to meet the specifications of the Du Pont Liberty Leaguers in the East, while appearing fiercely liberal in the West."

"More Widely Known"

"Even when it came to choosing their vice presidential candidate, they had to follow the same hazardous course. The larger men refused the post so they picked a gentleman, doubtless a good editor, who has never held public office; never strayed into fields other than his own business—even more widely known to the public than his chief."

Turning to the New Deal and the problems just ahead, Farley said that "for three years there

Working Himself Into a Fighting Mood

Flood Control District Buys Poultry Feed

"Are they keeping a chicken coop out there?" Supervisor LeRoy Lyon wanted to know today when a claim against the Orange county flood control district came to his desk.

Items included in the claim were laying mash, bran, and other poultry supplies.

"Maybe a hen dropped into some hole and they had to feed her until they could get her out," suggested Supervisor W. C. Jerome.

Deciding that the bill was for material destroyed in the flood control work, the supervisors allowed the claim.

has been a people's government," adding:

"It is our job to keep it a people's government."

"That is what I meant when I spoke of the responsibilities incident to this gathering. We know how millions have been poured out to prepare the ground for an assault aimed to bring back the reeking period that piled up great fortunes for those on the inside, and finally brought the country to the verge of bankruptcy."

Sees Hot Pursuit

"No pirate of the golden days chased a galleon that had escaped him more fiercely than will the backers of the Republican party pursue the enterprise of getting back the prize they held so long."

"The pursuing corsairs used whatever flag that served their purpose to chase with their quarry. They did not fly the skull and crossbones banner, but raised the pennant under which the prize was sailing to disguise their plundering purpose."

"Perhaps that illustrates the new plan of the Republican platform to uniform the budget, the budget in the West with the epaulettes of liberalism and in the East with the insignia of conservatism."

"Behind the Republican ticket is the crew of the Du Pont Liberty League and their allies, which have so far financed every undercover agency that has disgraced American politics with their appeals to race prejudice, religious intolerance and personalities so gross that they had to be repudiated even by the regular Republican organization. They will continue to disown these snaky assaults—and to seek to profit by them."

"But the leaguers will never gain the prize. The real New Deal, sane and orderly—not wild, visionary, socialist or communistic creation of its enemies' imagination—will sail serenely to the goal of complete recovery; and at its helm that calm, capable and courageous commander, Franklin D. Roosevelt."

MORE ABOUT HIGHWAYS

another traffic lane, in addition to the third one already scheduled to be laid this year. The distance is 7.65 miles. Extension of several culverts also is planned.

Garden Grove boulevard, or Memory Lane, comes in for an $80,000 improvement, including a bridge across the Santa Ana river and the paving of 3.2 miles between Verano road in Garden Grove and Flower street in Santa Ana.

Anaheim-Olive Road

Several new bridges and bridge improvements are scheduled for the vicinity of Orange. The budget provides $50,000 for new bridge on Tustin avenue over the Santiago creek southeast of Orange. A new bridge for the Glassell street crossing of the Santiago creek south of Orange is listed in the budget at a cost of $50,000.

The budget requests money for repairing the Santa Ana river bridge on the Anaheim-Olive road, where $125,000 is set up for widening and resurfacing and for eliminating a jog at Piacentia avenue. Another $50,000 bridge is listed for the Imperial highway over the Santa Ana river in Santa Ana canyon.

Laguna Canyon Plans

Realignment of Ortega highway and paving for a width of 20 feet from San Juan Capistrano east for a distance of 1.6 miles is provided for at a cost of $30,000. Grading and resurfacing of Imperial highway from Yuba Linda to its terminus in the Santa Ana canyon is set up at $200,000.

The sum of $75,000 is suggested for realignment of the Olive-Orange road to eliminate two jogs at Taft avenue, making the road follow the Santa Fe railroad right-of-way, and installing new shoulders and culverts. Two and one-half miles of the Laguna canyon road, going south from the Irvine overhead crossing are included for resurfacing and shoulders at a cost of $45,000.

Rosalind Russell of the films has the same make-up case she used when she made her debut in a tent show in 1930. The mirror is broken, but she uses it just the same—for luck.

Rites Wednesday For Mrs. Curtice

Funeral services for Mrs. Hattie B. Curtice, 76, will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at the Brown and Wagner funeral home, 116 West Seventeenth street, under the auspices of the Unity society. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mrs. Curtice passed away at her home, 1147 West Eighth street, June 22. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lena Leota Allen, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Nina Grace Bayless, Los Angeles, and one brother, Hulbert Crawford, Compton.

Rebekahs have been requested to attend the funeral.

RUM INQUIRY NO CHANGE IN WPA WAGES, SAYS CHIEF

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Conditions in the Los Angeles liquor enforcement office in 1935 were such as to draw the sharp attention of a senatorial committee last year, Senator Sanborn Young testified today.

Senator Young told the assembly investigating committee that after his civil service committee last year completed an inquiry he wrote to Senator W. R. Sharkey saying:

"I will be greatly surprised if he (Capt. Bert Massey) is not indicted for perjury."

Massey Removed

Captain Massey was then chief liquor control officer here. He was removed along with many others after Young's committee conferred with Miss Orfa Jean Shontz, then board of equalization member for this district and now a municipal judge.

Miss Shontz testified yesterday that various persons, including Helen Werner, so-called Los Angeles political "queen," "hounded" her until finally she asked Governor Merriam to appoint her to the bench.

Sought Probe

Senator Young declared that after his committee had inquired into conditions here it adopted a resolution which was sent to the district attorney's office and to the grand jury calling for an investigation.

The senator declared George Rochester, then grand jury foreman, told him no indictments were returned because the jury felt there was insufficient evidence to bring convictions.

Senator Young said the letter in which he referred to Captain Massey was written by him July 17, 1935, to State Sen. W. R. Sharkey in reply to one written by Sharkey July 15, 1935, in which Sharkey was quoted by Young as saying:

"Massey Total Loss"

"I am satisfied that perjury has been committed by more than one witness. It is evident there is evidence of corruption, intimidation and collusion. The present liquor administration is either incompetent or dishonest."

Senator Young, speaking of Captain Massey, testified:

"When he told me he had evidence of hundreds of violations, and did nothing, I concluded he was a total loss."

The state senator in his letter to Sharkey which he read into the record said he was convinced that Miss Shontz knew nothing of the operation of the Los Angeles liquor control office because she never visited it.

SET SLAYER'S TRIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—The insanity plea trial of Albert Walter, charged with the slaying of a young woman, was set today for July 1. The 25-year-old slayer remained firm in his declaration he was sane, wanted no defense and hoped he would be hanged soon.

ANOTHER BANK OPENS

INGLEWOOD, (AP)—A new branch of the Bank of America opened here Monday with L. E. Grill manager and Fred J. Christensen assistant. It is the 443rd branch in the bank's state-wide system.

TRANSFER FUND

Because tax collections in a number of improvement and sanitary districts are insufficient to pay obligations under 1915 act bonds, the board of supervisors today transferred $7400 from the general fund to pay the current obligations. The sum will be repaid from the next collection of taxes, Auditor W. T. Lambert told the board.

Seek Identity of Drowned Youth

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Weiss, 707 Oak street, of this city, are awaiting word today from the Los Angeles chief of police regarding the identity of a young man drowned in Sandpitt Lake, Nebraska, Sunday. The only clue was a fragment of paper found in his clothing, which carried the name of Mr. Weiss and that of his niece, Mrs. Walter Boston, Alhambra.

The youth was between 20 and 25 years of age. "We don't know," said Mrs. Weiss, "if he was some relative of ours or the boy of some old friend. We haven't any trace, or idea."

Saturday the youth arrived at Scotts Bluff, apparently on his way to California. That night a workman, T. L. Butler, fed him. The next day he was probably seized by cramps while swimming, and drowned.

STATE KEEPS ITS SETUP ON RELIEF

But Governor Planning New Program to Take Its Place Later

SACRAMENTO, (AP)—Administration of relief in California will continue under the present setup until Governor Merriam makes effective a new program on which he is working.

The governor, who made this known following announcement of the inability of the administration and the California Supervisors Association to harmonize their differences, said he contemplates a material reduction in overhead costs of the dole.

The decision of the governor to formulate his own plan was communicated to the relief committee of the supervisors at a conference here yesterday. Virtual abolition of the SRA and turning over the work to the social welfare department to operate in conjunction with county welfare departments now existing as asked by the supervisors is not legally possible under the constitution, the governor told the county officials.

Also he informed them he could not definitely assume on behalf of the state the financial responsibility for continuing relief after the present appropriation of $21,500,000 is exhausted. This, he said, depends upon what the federal government and the state legislature are willing to do in the matter of providing funds.

Cyclist Falls Off At Sight of Cops

A carload of sheriff's officers is not supposed to scare folks on the road. This morning, however, it surprised a motorcyclist so badly he fell off and got bandaged up a bit, officers reported.

He was Harvey Leichtfuss, Orange, who was riding along Almond street in Orange early today. When the sheriff's car passed, he jumped, they said, so hard his cycle skidded, and he hit the pavement. Leichtfuss wasn't badly hurt, and went home under his own power, officers reported.

CLAIMS ALTITUDE MARK

VILLACOUBLAY, France, (AP)—

Maryse Hiltz, French flyer, claimed the women's altitude record today after a flight which she said reached 45,275 feet.

The French woman pilot declared she broke the mark set by Marquise Negre, Italian woman pilot, near Rome last year with a flight of 39,511 feet.

POLICE REPORTS

Two youthful Fullerton corn and cantaloupe vendors, having been reported missing, were found safe by their employer yesterday. They were Fred Boyd, 12, and Bob Jelenky, 13, who merely were "misplaced."

E. V. Whitney, 825 Lacy street, has been missing vegetables from his garden. He asked police to watch his place.

Poundmaster H. D. Pickering had two dead cats to contend with last night. The animals were reported on East and West First street, and were duly picked up and buried.

A prowler was reported by C. A. Rowe, 205 St. Andrews street.

Burglars entered his home, stole a gold ring and an ivory elephant, and scattered marshmallows outside, reported Manuel Aguayo, 411 South Daisy street. The marshmallows, he said, were taken from the kitchen.

A strange car in front of her house was reported by Mrs. Daisy McGee, 519 West Second street. The car was moved some time later, police found.

COURT BRIEFS

Mrs. Anna K. McAuley of Santa Ana, daughter and sole heir of the late Mrs. Olive L. Kennedy, who died Aug. 26, 1935, today petitioned the superior court to probate the will, bequeathing $6,500 in real and personal property.

Home Owner's Loan corporation today had on file in superior court a complaint against Jessie E. Reed to foreclose a mortgage securing a note for $1,857.30.

When Frank L. Thornberry died May 27, he left an estate of $12,199.01, consisting largely of bank accounts, according to an appraisal filed in superior court yesterday by John N. Anderson, inheritance tax appraiser.

AL REBOIN TO RETIRE?
COACHES ON VACATION
NOTES ON NIGHTBALL

Alvin Theodore Reboin, who played the role of a permanent about-face—when he takes over the football-coaching reigns at Huntington Beach High in September... we are convinced his playing days with Santa Ana will soon be over, but his retirement from the National Night Ball league is something else again... our guess is that he'll be roaming the outfield for Joe Rodgers' Oilers next summer... if he plays anywhere, it will be at Huntington Beach, where he is employed... the ex-Trojan's wife, the former Vera Levens, is one nightball widow who is convinced "Al won't give up the game."

Coaches are scattering hither and yon with the close of school... W. W. (Bill) Foote of the Saints and Mrs. Foote are vacationing in Minnesota, where Bill plans to stude at the university... A. J. (Bill) Cook of the Dons and his new coaching aide, Blanchard Beatty, have been fishing at Ensenada... Reece (Pinky) Greene plans to study for his master's... Beauty and Reboin will take special work at U. S. C... Clarence Bishop of Placentia plans to join Nelson (Brick) Gaines, The Journal's county editor, on a fishing excursion into the Bishop country. The author of Brickdust is vacationing there for two weeks.

Business managers and scribes will gather in the home of President Walt Wentz in Garden Grove tomorrow night to smooth out National Night Ball league problems—and they are many. Breezy weather has been blamed for the lack of attendance around the circuit... but the weatherman isn't entirely responsible... fans support the Santa Ana-Huntington Beach rivalry, and they would turn out for the other games, too, if the league were better balanced... something must be done to regain fan interest.

Orange and Westminster are displaying new life which should produce drawing power in the second half... Anaheim is coming back despite the recent loss of two fine outfielders, Jean Arroues and Fred Wiseman... Arroues has retired... Wiseman is busy trucking... and Ted Neja has returned to Anaheim's Class B club.

Oliver is on the verge of collapse. Ben Geiss is still considering the advisability of removing his franchise to Fullerton... his troubles will be discussed at the league meeting tomorrow... Santa Ana is slowly slipping, but the Stars will become brighter with the start of the second half July 7.

W. A. Smith, Santa Ana fishing expert, reports each of the barges at Newport average 350 yellowtail daily last week... and the barracuda fishermen are doing well at night... more yellowtail have been caught off the barges the past week than on the live bait boats, says the Lying Scotman, jr., whose fishing report appears elsewhere on this page.

Harold Finley, Kenneth Miller and Gene Hitt, sly trio of City league softball managers, who sometimes come to near-blows over decisions on the playing field, have already selected the 1936 champion... each names his own club... the Commercial Nationals have selected the first-half flag to support Finley's belief... Miller says emphatically the Elks will breeze in with the second-half title... Hitt likes the chances of his First Nationals, and believes them capable of depriving the B. P. O. E.'s of the September playoff privilege... the five other clubs haven't decided yet that the second-half race will be strictly a three-sided affair... the Knights of Columbus club has acquired virtually an entire new team, notably Hal Pangle, Horace and Elwood Rittner, Les Fulsom and Frank LaBucherie, and hopes to evacuate the cellar... M. E. South, Joe's Grocery, Carpenters and the Latter Day Saints all will be striving to leave the second division.

Since June 13 the yellowtail have started to run on the live bait boats and barges in quantities larger than they have in the past several years out of Newport-Balboa. To tell you the truth, more yellowtail have been caught off the barges than on the live bait boats. I've never seen such a run of yellowtail.

A funny part about this run of fish is the fact that for the last three or four days it has been blowing a south-east wind and if anything wrecks fishing it's one of these winds.

Henry Wright, skipper of the trolling boat "Vampire," probably had the first broadbill strike of the season out of Newport-Balboa Sunday. Pier fishermen have been having some good yellowfin croaker fishing along in the surf line; they've been running big, salted anchovies and hogs are the best for bait. Yes, they bite on salted anchovies. At infrequent intervals the barracuda have come in around the pier close enough for a few to be caught on live bait and metal jigs. Surf fishermen have been picking up some nice yellowfin croaker and corbina.

Games Tonight
Santa Ana at Westminster.
Elks at Anaheim.

Payment for a stinging 11-2 reversal from Elvinn (Fuzzy) Errington, slow-ball magician, early this month will be sought by Santa Ana's once-invincible Stars in a National Night Ball league feud in Westminster at 8:15 tonight. Shortstop Francis Conrad is still on the trading block, and although "Connie" will be in suit, Manager George Lackaye, in rebuilding for the second half, probably will start Ray (Doc) Smith at the hot patch against Francis Penhall's Aviators, he said.

Jimmy Coates will pitch. Little Harvey Hemphill, shortstop for the Commercial National Bank, has attracted the eye of Lackaye, who may escort the City Leaguer to Westminster for a trial.

No other deals are pending, although the Stars are definitely in the market for an outfielder to replace Tom Denney, who will vacate the second half, and a pitcher to share the burden with Coates. The Stars wind up first-half grind against Orange at the Municipal bowl Friday night. Lackaye plans to rest his charges until the following Thursday night, when they go up against the New York Globe-Tribune, national negro champions, here. On July 7 they swing into the second half against Huntington Beach's first-half champions at the bowl.

The Olive-Anaheim game has been moved to Anaheim tonight at the request of Ben Gelker, Grenadier manager who is dissatisfied with the support he has been receiving on his home field. Huntington Beach plays at Orange in the other game.

LONG BEACH. (AP)—Billy Doeg, young brother of Santa Monica's former national champion, emerged today as a strong contender in the seventh annual Long Beach tennis tournament.

His hard drives and soft slices mowed down Johnny Moreno of Hollywood in the second round, 8-6, 6-1.

Lewis Wetherell of Santa Ana and U. S. C. won over Stanley Briggs, Beverly Hills, 6-4, 6-4. Al Fierman, San Pedro ace, earned the right to meet Jack Tidball, seeded No. 1 favorite, in the quarter-final round tomorrow by outlasting Hal Demarest, 6-3, 3-5, 6-4, and polishing off R. Phillips, 6-3, 6-3.

PALO ALTO. (AP)—Harry Shipkey, football coach at Salinas High school and Junior college, will tutor Stanford freshmen teams next fall succeeding James "Rabbit" Bradshaw.

Bradshaw resigned recently to take a position as football coach at Fresno State college.

Shipkey played end for Stanford in Glenn S. "Pop" Warner's regime. He was graduated in 1926.

Tony Gaudio, film cameraman, comes from a family of noted photographers.

Poughkeepsie Champs Point to Olympics

Here is the University of Washington's great crew which stroked its way to victory over California's defending champions in the intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., yesterday. Coxswain Bob Moch barks the order to Don Hume, stroke; Joe Rantz, 7; George Hunt, 6; James McMillan, 5; John White, 4; Gordon Adams, 3; Charles Day, 2, and Roger Morris, bow. HELEN MOODY RETURNS TO NET WARS

BERKELEY. (AP)—Mrs. Helen Moody, America's tennis queen, appears in her first state championship since 1925 today, paired with Edward G. (Bud) Chandler in mixed doubles against Marcus Gordon and Elsie Gable.

The Wimbledon champion and many times national titleholder will play locally for the first time since her return from the East. Mrs. Moody is concentrating on the National championships at Forest Hills, N. Y., late this summer.

Seedings rate Mrs. Moody and Chandler second to Margaret Osborne and Henry Culley of Los Angeles. Miss Osborne is taking the place of Gracy Wheeler, Los Angeles, originally seeded No. 1, whose non-appearance here dropped her from the tournament.

HELEN JACOBS WINS AT WIMBLEDON. WIMBLEDON, Eng. (AP)—Helen Jacobs, United States champion and runner-up at Wimbledon last year, dropped only one game as she defeated Miss M. Cable, little known British player, in the first round of the all-England tennis championship today. The scores were 6-1, 6-0.

Miss Jacobs, who had been playing far below her form since taking ill in Vienna last month, looked invincible as she opened a bid for the title she has never held. Last year she was beaten by Helen Wills Moody in the finals.

Jack Crawford and Adrian Quist, Australian Davis cup combination, also came through with a straight set victory. They eliminated the Czechoslovakian team of Ladislav Hecht and J. Caska, 6-3, 6-3, 7-5.

M'CARTER WILL FIGHT NEGRO

Jim Williams, 185-pound negro from Los Angeles, will attempt to spoil the comeback of Orange's Bud McCarter, 200-pound brother of Oliver, at the Orange County Athletic club's fistie arena Thursday night.

Don Benzer, Anaheim favorite, has been rematched with "Babyface" Shaw, Clay Rowan will fight Mike De La Cruz at 150 pounds. Six other bouts will be arranged by Promoter Sam Sampson.

Girls Between 12 And 16 to Play Softball Here

Organization of a Santa Ana softball league for girls between the ages of 12 and 16, inclusively, was announced today. Girls from 17 to 25 already have been drawing crowds of 700 and 800 fans at the Municipal bowl on Wednesday nights.

Mrs. Marian H. Clarke, WPA assistant supervisor, will be in charge. She urges all girls who have signed up for play to be present at the league's first meeting in the Municipal bowl at 4 p. m. Monday. Mrs. Clarke will be assisted by Miss Wilma Pott, WPA recreational leader.

More than 80 girls have signed.

N. L. EXPERTS FOOLED BY BOSTON

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer
The sports "experts," who have been wrong so often this year that they're developing a special technique in laughing off embarrassing predictions, are beginning to worry about their almost unanimous pre-season forecast that the Boston Bees would finish in the National League cellar.

The Bees haven't threatened to leave the second division yet but their recent performances against strong opposition have made last place look a long way off.

Following the lead of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who broke Chicago's 15-game winning streak Sunday, the Bees whipped the Cubs 5 to 1 yesterday to hang up their sixth victory in eight games. That loss applied the brakes more firmly to Chicago's rush toward the top as the Cardinals outslugged the Phillies, 8-5, increasing their lead to 1½ games.

New York's Yankees likewise increased their lead, whipping the White Sox 9-6 while the champion Detroit Tigers edged out Boston's Red Sox, 8-7, to regain fourth place in the American league standings.

The Washington Senators, who had been tied with the Tigers, were rained out at St. Louis while Dutsy Rhodes pitched the Athletics to a 4-3 victory over the third-place Cleveland Indians.

Giants Troupe Pirates
The National league race tightened up even more when the New York Giants, trying to come back from the fourth place, put on one of their best slugging exhibitions to sink the Pittsburgh Pirates 11 to 5. Cincinnati's Reds maintained their slim fifth-place margin over Boston by trouncing the Dodgers, 7 to 2.

The Cards took the home run route to victory. Ripper Collins hitting two and breaking a 6-6 tie with his second in the eighth inning. Travis Jackson smacked a pair of circuit swats for the Giants, who piled up 18 blows off Bill Swift and Guy Bush on top of five Pittsburgh errors while Hal Schumacher hurled six-hit ball.

Paul Derringer turned in a six-hitter for Cincinnati, giving only two blows in the first eight innings.

The Yanks had rather tough sledding against Chicago but won out with a sixth-run assault in the seventh, when Johnny Whitehead collapsed. The Tigers came back from the verge of defeat in the eighth, when Bill Rogell's doubling with two on base and one out in the ninth.

Games Thursday
7:30 o'clock—Carpenters vs. First National Bank.
9 o'clock—Commercial National Bank vs. Knights of Columbus.

Second-half softball war in the Santa Ana City league was ushered in with the unique combination of an upset and a protest in a doubleheader at the Municipal bowl last night.

Bernard (Bus) Snow's Latter Day Saints, who shared the deep, dark cellar with Knights of Columbus throughout the first half, turned the tables last night and out down Lester Slaback's South Methodists, 10 to 7.

Grocers Protest
The Elks doubled the score against Joe's Grocers, 10 to 5, but the B. P. O. E.'s were the target for a protest because V. L. Motry, Grand Exalted of the Sycamore street lodge, was employed as a base umpire.

Harold Youel, usual arbiter, has resigned to play in the Orange County ring wars, dropping out in as a temporary substitute by Tom Moore, official scorer, last night. His selection was approved by President Kenneth Morrison.

Many Homers
The protest probably will hold no water because of the wide difference in score.

Bob Bowe, Joe Cornelius and Fred (Porky) Bell of the Elks drove out home runs and LeRoy Levens bagged a triple against the grocers, whose attack was led by Pete Partida with a single and double and by Hapes with a homer.

Baldy Gordon clouted a four-base blow for the Methodists, who were snowed under by a four-run rally in the first and a three-run spurge in the fifth by the Mormons. Ernie Ackler hit a triple and double. Centerfield Conway a homer and Bob Blanchard two singles for the winners.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Two heavy-duty punchers, lanky Hank Hankinson of Akron, Ohio, and the veteran Jack Roper, lately of Hollywood, headline tonight's fight card at the Olympic auditorium.

Hankinson, uncorking a terrific right to knock out Carl Walker, German heavyweight, in his last appearance here. Roper, after stiffening Art Laskey with three left hooks in one round several months ago, laid a 10-round Hebrew in a return match in his last fight in Los Angeles.

LOPEZ DEFENDS MAT LAURELS

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Vincent Lopez, who claims to be heavyweight wrestling champion of 19 states, successfully defended his title here last night by downing Ray Steele, otherwise known as Pete Sauer, in a one-fall match.

The "India Rubber Man" of the mat, weighing 220 pounds, used up 50 minutes in pinning the former Phoenix milkman, who weighed 218.

Frank Capra, the film director, once wrote "gag" for "Our Gang" comedies.

Successful Return

Nick Lutze, Venetian life guard, who made a successful return to the Orange county wrestling wars by dropping Bill Bartush in one of the featured bouts last night.

MEXICAN MAT IDOL FLOORS JOHNSON

By BOB GUILD

The Pico man still is tops. The build-up for blue-bearded Senor Don Juan Olivila Pico, the man from the steppes of Mexico, continued last night at the Orange county athletic club when he dropped behemoth Thor Johnson for two of the fastest falls in history.

After losing the first heat by means of a body-crush (as differentiated from a body slam) Don Juan came back in a towering rage to drop kick mighty Thor to the mat in 14 seconds. Thor was considerably crushed at this treatment, and required extra time to come back.

Elbow Slams to Chin
Even so he's have done better to have stayed safe in his corner, because Juan let fly with half a dozen slams to the chin via elbow and the mountain-man crumpled. Time of 25 seconds.

Best fight of a good card was provided by Abe Goldberg, who looks like he sounds, and Mormon Billy Hansen. They were nicely matched, and put up a scintillating bout until Abe missed a drop-kick, landed on the back of his head, and as a consequence did not protest over-much when Hansen crawled on for the fall.

Midway Goldberg proved his mettle by producing some very neat work indeed to keep Hansen in hot water most of the time. A drop-kick and a back slam nearly spilled the Salt Lake wrestler, but in a fierce melee a few moments later Goldberg nearly lost an eye. His injured optic bled copiously henceforth.

Lutze Drops Bartush
Nick Lutze, the Venetian life guard, returned to the Orange county ring wars, dropping tough Billy Bartush after 18 minutes and 16 seconds of sweaty work. Nick was in as good shape, and as popular as ever. The fans thoroughly hated Badman Bartush as usual. Nick won his fight with a back-wind body-slam out of an armlock.

Baby Bob Coleman, the scientific mat with cowboy legs, had his hands full with Wild Man (Goldilocks) Zinn, before finally winning on a foul.

Zinn is one of the most methodical dirty men seen in the local ring since the Dusek boys, but even so put up a fair to middling battle before tiny Bob succumbed to his goings-over, and Referee Stegman finally lost his patience. Zinn slugged 'em all with great indiscretion, having Coleman in a trance and the referee on his ear before the hectic fight was finished.

All the way around, the evening was some fun. Promoter Sam Sampson had a good house, and the house had a good card.

HUSKY CREW DOMINATES REGATTA

Northerners to Compete in Olympic Tests at Princeton July 4-5

By ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor
POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y.—In the wake of their smashing sweep of the intercollegiate championship regatta on the Hudson river, two of the University of Washington's three triumphant eight-oared crews pointed today for the final American Olympic tryouts and the goal of a trip to Berlin to row for world honors.

To fortify their bid in the Olympic tests at Princeton, July 4-5, the all-conquering Huskies from Seattle plan to send their crack junior varsity eight, as well as the magnificent varsity boatload that came roaring through the last mile of the four-mile race last evening to dethrone California's defending champions and achieve the first three-ple sweep in 24 years.

Challenged by Five
On Lake Carnegie and over the Olympic 2000-meter route, equivalent to one mile and a quarter, Washington's oarsmen will be challenged, again by five of the college crews they defeated yesterday, as well as several of the East's crack club eights. But the fashion in which the Huskies disposed of their opposition on the Hudson clearly established either or both of Washington's entries as Olympic favorites.

California saw its three-year varsity reign ended, but the Golden Bears have not by any means given up hope of gaining the Olympic berth for the third straight time. They won the world championship at Amsterdam in 1928, and repeated at Los Angeles in 1932.

Washington's "big boat," the first Husky varsity to come swinging home in front at Poughkeepsie since Al Tibbickson, now the head coach, stroked the victorious 1926 crew, looked as though it was practicing for the Olympics in the varsity race.

Win 'Going Away'
Ever since 1926 Washington has either blown up in the last mile or trailed to such an extent, up to that point, that it could not overhaul the pace-makers. The Huskies, second three times and third on four other occasions, got the reputation for not being able to "take it" after leaving the shadows of the ancient railroad bridge.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

By O. K. MAXWELL
(Subbing for Gaines)

WELL, folks, ye county ed. has gone on a two weeks vacation. Brick left early Saturday in high spirits for parts not announced. With him was his charming better half and his lively youngster. And, (pardon the oversight), of course, complete fishing tackle.

During "Brick's" absence, this column has been left to the mercy of the several correspondents, which the writer is one. Here goes nothing.

Ah 'tis a hard job to try and please everyone. Take for instance, the terrible chort at this time of year encountered by the politicians. Main street in San Juan Capistrano was recently given a double coating of oil and gravel. Main street runs in front of the grammar school and the Community church. Naturally enough, said street had to be closed to traffic for the entire day.

About 10 o'clock your scribe happened along where the group of 15 or 20 county road men were working. We stopped to admire their progress. One of the workmen asked: "Say what's going on here today. We've been sawed out for closing the street. Don't folks down here want the dust on this street laid down?"

For a minute we were stumped. Then the light dawned. It was the big day of the year for San Juan Capistrano Woman's club. They were holding a luncheon meeting and installation of officers for the new year in the Community church. All of the women were decked out in their summer frocks and pretty white shoes, and would have to cross the oiled street. No doubt the oiling of the street was a move on the part of somebody to be nice to San Juan. Probably after the ladies get the oil and tar off of their shoes they will appreciate this busy thoroughfare's new dress.

The recent orange picker strike in this county did not affect the south end of Orange county. It is reported that one evening last week an outside agitator made an attempt to interest a few pickers in the "cause." However, it is also reported, that when the pickers learned of said "cause" they politely told the agitator that they were not interested, and he slipped away into the night.

A recent real estate transfer was reported from Dana Point. It was the sale of beach frontage near the Dana Point strand. Upon investigation it was learned that the reason for the acquisition of the beach frontage by a real estate concern was that they were trying to sell lots in a canyon several miles away. Prospective purchasers of the lots demanded ocean frontage and beach. Now, anyone who wishes to buy a fine residence or cabin site may do so and have a private beach—five miles distant.

Yours truly went fishing yesterday down to Capistrano Beach. Through the courtesy of Messrs. H. E. and Don W. Leyden, managers for Petroleum Securities property on the Palisades, we are able to go to this pier and try and get a mess once in awhile. Yesterday the fish were on a vacation, nearly a bite. (Haven't confirmed the rumor 'till said they read in "The Journal" that the county editor of a well-known newspaper left on vacation, and that they would be too lonesome without his baited hook in the surf, so they went in search of him).

Interviewed 32 of the 40 veterans in this community who received or were entitled to receive bonus money.

Eleven of the vets said they were going to forget that they had them, and let 'em ride. The rest of the boys said that they were going to pay up back bills, pay out on their homes, furniture, etc. There will be several new automobiles purchased, and several old ones put into conditions for a summer of travel. Too bad we all can't get a bonus and pay up what we owe, and maybe have more dinero left to take a trip, but I guess 'tis well for Uncle Sammy's treasury that there are no more to be paid off.

Haven't heard any rumblings of strife or grief from San Clemente lately. Guess things are running along in pretty smooth shape down there. We understand that the Spanish Village is preparing for a splendid summer crop of tourists—that the Capital company is still keeping local residents pepped up with prospects of a sales campaign—that realtors in this, the finest summer resort in California, report that it is extremely difficult for folks to obtain a place to live—even at a high price. Anyhow, business along the coastline is showing an increase over last year, and here's hoping it will continue to climb. We all need it.

Word is received from San Juan Hot Springs that this popular Orange county resort is being improved, and the picnic grounds en-

BEACH GAMES LEGALITY UNDER FIRE AT H. B. THURSDAY

LEAGUE WILL HEAR TALK ON TANGO

L. A. Prosecutor Speaker at County Meet of Municipalities

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Tango and allied games will come in for some detailed discussion Thursday night, when the Orange County League of Municipalities meets here.

The evening's discussion will center about legality of the games, which have a firm hold in Seal Beach and Newport Beach. Deputy City Prosecutor John L. Bland of Los Angeles will speak. One other speaker also will be named before the meeting, Secretary Elmer R. Guy of Fullerton said today.

The meeting is slated for 6:30 p. m. at the Golden Bear Cafe. Reservations are being made through Guy, at his Fullerton offices, and should be in before tomorrow night.

The subject holds considerable interest for Orange county beach towns at the present time, and particular interest here, following the flare-up of a council battle over the matter a month ago.

At that time several applications for permits to open penny games in Huntington Beach were made to the council, and after considerable discussion were voted down.

ANAHEIM TAXES ARE REDUCED

ANAHEIM.—Further savings of 10 cents on the Anaheim tax rate for the forthcoming fiscal year were promised today by city officials, who said the tax base will be reduced to 70 cents per $100 assessed valuation, as compared to 80 cents for last year, and 90 cents for two years ago.

The budget for the 1936-1937 fiscal year was completed yesterday. Anaheim's fiscal year started May 1.

City Councilman Leo J. Sheridan, finance commissioner, announced that the city treasury now shows a balance of $188,804.84, as of May 1, which he termed an "exceptionally healthy condition."

Revenues for the present fiscal year are expected to total $299,326.30, without the tax income. Expenditures are listed at $305,771.76, leaving a balance of only $6,444.54 to be raised by direct taxation.

LA HABRA.—The La Habra school board at a special meeting this week is expected to accept the resignation of Emmett R. Berry, superintendent of local schools for the past 10 years.

Berry leaves here to take over a similar position in Porterville.

Mr. and Mrs. Berry and their three children will leave for Porterville within a few days, he said in tendering his resignation. His new contract becomes effective July 1.

LEGION MOTHERS MEET

ORANGE.—The Mothers club of the American Legion auxiliary held an all day meeting at the home of Mrs. Anna Slater, North Tustin street, recently. The day was spent in quilting, with a pot-luck luncheon served at noon.

Mother's present were Mesdames Mary Franzen, Cora Reynolds, Henrietta McCarthy, Mary Ripley, Ora Benson, Katherine Clough, Amelia Hart, Ida E. Davis, Anna Christianson and Violetta Erickson. Mrs. Dolores Goodwin was a guest.

HUNTING TRIP ENDS

MIDWAY CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Pryor, John Pryor and Mrs. Neill, Sunset Beach, have returned from a hunting trip in the mountains near Lake Elsinore. Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Pryor had their dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Neill, Sunset Beach. Other recent guests in the Pryor home were Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy, Los Angeles, Mrs. M. O. Dameron, mother of Mrs. Pryor, arrived several days ago to spend the summer months here.

TUSTIN BEATS S. A.

TUSTIN.—Tustin Scout Troop No. 32 defeated Santa Ana Troop No. 37 16 to 8 in the first of a series of indoor baseball games last Saturday on the high school grounds.

A series of games is to be played between the Tustin troop and various troops in Santa Ana, organized by Ray Dawson, Tustin troop leader.

larged, Ferris F. Kelly has had a crew working for more than a week. Many local residents, as well as tourists, are availing themselves of this beauty spot of Orange county.

To date, according to Deputy Fire Warden Tony Nydegger, this district has been exceptionally free from grass fires. Maybe this freedom is due to publicity given regarding prevention. Maybe it is due to the fact that a recent cigarette thrower got "socked" by his judge.

MARINE COLLEGE SUMMER SESSIONS OPEN TODAY

LAGUNA BEACH.—With a registration of 35 students, drawn from different schools and colleges in the Southwest, the 26th annual summer school session of the Marine Laboratory, operated by Pomona college, opened today. The various courses, covering a period of six weeks, are conducted under direction of Dr. William A. Hilton, noted zoologist, connected with Pomona college. Other instructors are Dr. William J. Baumgartner, of the University of Kansas, Professor Oscar H. Edinger, head of the science department of

NEBRASKA MAN AUXILIARY TO ON FACULTY NAME HEADS

ORANGE.—Theodore Hopman, Deshler, Neb., has been appointed to serve on the faculty of the St. John's Lutheran parochial school, and will arrive in Orange early in July, it was announced by the Rev. A. C. Bode, pastor of the church.

The new teacher will succeed Eugene Wunderlich, who has resigned from his position. Mr. Hopman will teach third and fourth grades, and also serve as church organist and choir director. He has taught for the past 15 years in the St. Peter's Lutheran school in Deshler.

Other faculty members are Mrs. Ada Gorath, J. J. Troester, Paul Hedder and William Batterman.

Missionary Talks To Church Group

ORANGE.—The Princess Long Circle, a girls' missionary group of the Christian church, held an open meeting recently in the church parlors. Mrs. David Byer, a missionary home on furlough from Bolenge, West Central Africa, was the speaker. Mrs. Byer is the guest of the pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. William Holder. The speaker told of her work among the natives and sang several songs in English and the native language. She is an instructor in singing at the mission.

Following a short business meeting conducted by the outgoing president, newly elected officers were installed by the group advisor, Mrs. B. J. Fletcher. Miss Marie Bivens is president, Miss Patricia Butler, vice president; Miss Vivian Hahn, secretary and Miss Mary Moore, treasurer. During the installation performed by candlelight, Miss Maryester Wood played.

Olympic Candidate Talks to Chamber

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Dr. Lawrence Whitaker had as his guest at the chamber of commerce meeting and luncheon at the Golden Bear cafe yesterday Mrs. Ann Obrien, who is a candidate for a place on the American Women's Olympic team. Mrs. Obrien, who lives in this city at 505 Fifteenth street, runs the low hurdles and the 100-meter race. She gave a short talk.

Willis Osborn, chairman of the July 4 queen contest, introduced his seven queen candidates, Miss Marjorie George, the eighth candidate, being out of the city. Those present were Lucile McNeil, Mildred Holmsback, Dahlia Spoonhour, Edith Huston, Catherine Padrick, June Lyerly, Nancy Reid.

ISLAND REDISCOVERED

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—Forgotten since first explored by an unnamed American 30 years ago, the Isle of Santo Aleixo, a mile long and half as wide, was visited recently by Alfred Van Bukowski, amateur geologist, who said a volcanic eruption at the bottom of the Atlantic centuries ago thrust it up 54 miles southeast of here.

O. E. S. HEADS ARE HONORED

GARDEN GROVE.—Mrs. Alice T. Smith and J. Carlisle Clark, the worthy matron and patron of the Garden Grove chapter of the Eastern Star, were honored with a dinner party given Saturday evening by the other officers of the chapter at the Fullerton home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Bryan. Small tables were used for the chicken dinner served at 7:30, the one at which the honor guests were seated being appointed in American beauty red. Other tables were decorated in colors of the Star points with one each in blue, yellow, white, green and red.

Bridge was enjoyed after dinner, with Mr. Bryan winning the award for high score. Mrs. Louise Lake for second high and Mrs. Jeanette Tarpley the consolation. With the distributing of the prizes Mrs. Smith was presented with a mixer and Mr. Clark an electric clock as gifts from the officers, with Mrs. Alice Keele and Mr. Bryan making the presentations.

Guests in addition to the honored pair were Mrs. James Tarpley, district deputy grand matron and Mr. Tarpley, of Santa Ana, Mrs. C. J. Clark, J. Orland Smith and H. T. Keele. Members of the host group were Mr. and Mrs. Bryan, Jack Jentges, Mesdames Keele, Lucille Walker, Lake, Emma Henry, Eunice Hill, Pauline Merchant, Ann Haster, Clara Busker, Mignon Waters, Dorothy Jentges, Mabel Doig, Emma Kearns, Misses Anne Ashley, Marcia and Clara Carmichael.

Services Held For Miss Runyon

ORANGE.—Services for Miss Mary Runyon, who died on a train en route to California, June 19, were held this morning at 10 o'clock at the Shannon funeral home. Miss Runyon was returning from a visit to eastern relatives, and was overcome by heat, when her train was delayed for six hours at Chambers, Ariz.

She made her home with a brother-in-law, D. M. Grove, Orange, and is survived by several nieces and nephews, among them Mrs. Ray Tibbets, Santa Ana; Charles Grove, Santa Ana; Faye Grove, Pasadena; Dewey Grove, Boulder City, Colo.; Lee Grove, Republic City, Kans.; Joseph Hockman, Stockton, Kans. and a great nephew, Harold Grove, Anaheim.

Westminster Guest From Hong Kong

WESTMINSTER.—Mr. and Mrs. Orion Bebermeyer went to San Pedro Friday night to meet Elizabeth Rousseau on her arrival from Hong Kong, China. Miss Rousseau and Helen Reiton, also of Hong Kong, will be the house guests of the Bebermeyers for several days.

Billy Max Bebermeyer was the guest over Sunday of his aunt, Mrs. Gladys Buck, in Santa Ana. Mr. C. Murdy is spending a week in Trinity county in northern California.

Annabelle Day, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Day, has completed her college year at San Jose and will spend the vacation at the home of her parents.

Attend Picnic in Brookside Park

MIDWAY CITY.—Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Holly and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Spafford and family attended the Associated Oil company picnic at Brookside Park, Pasadena, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Robertson and Mrs. Bruce Palmer were in Olinda Sunday attending the annual Old Settlers picnic.

Mr. C. Whitacre, and their son and daughter, of Whittier, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Marshall.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hunt, Jr., were recent guests of E. E. Leith and Miss Amy Leith.

GUILD LEADERS INSTALLED

GARDEN GROVE.—New officers of the Queen Esther Guild were installed with a pretty candlelighting ceremony conducted by the advisor Miss Velda Barnes, at the home of Miss Elva Ralston. The officers are Dorothy Swenson, president; Isabel Biggs, vice-president; Joyce Arkley, secretary; Evelyn Lamb, treasurer.

The retiring president, Leah Merchant, and her cabinet, each gave short talks extending their good wishes to their successors. Marjorie Edwards of Anaheim accompanied her sister, Beanie Marie, in several violin numbers. For devotions the group joined in singing "The Golden Year Song." Corsages were presented the girls working for queen points, the Misses Ralston, Arkley, Biggs and Lois Reafsnnyder.

A picnic at the A. A. Schnitger home was planned for the meeting of July 13. Refreshments were served buffet style at the close of the evening.

Others attending were Lillian Crane, Juanita Maxson, Evelyn Lamb, Ruth Keele, Hannah Mae Jorgensen, Eva Gilbreath, Eleanor Brady, Marjorie Merchant, Lois Weber. Guests were Mesdames Grover Ralston, G. R. Reburn and A. A. Schnitger.

Placentia School Contract Awarded

PLACENTIA.—Bid of $26,296 submitted by O. T. Moore, Santa Ana contractor, for the erection of a new three-room building at the Bradford avenue school was to be accepted this week by FWA, which agency is supplying part of the funds for the project, it was indicated today.

Architect T. C. Kistner, Los Angeles, who designed the proposed structure, as well as the eight-classroom building now under way, had estimated the cost of the work at $25,000. The board of education has sufficient funds on hand to care for the increase shown by Moore's bid, it was explained.

Eastern Star Plans Parties

GARDEN GROVE.—The annual party night of the Garden Grove Chapter of Eastern Star will be observed Thursday evening in the Anaheim K. P. hall. Guests will include officers and members of all chapters in the 56 and 57th districts.

The meeting next week of the Monday afternoon star club has been announced as a 1 o'clock dessert bridge at the home of Miss Clara Carmichael on East Garden Grove boulevard.

U.S.S. ALDEN AT BALBOA JULY 3

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—Arrangements for the visit of the destroyer U. S. S. Alden to Newport harbor for the week-end of July 4 were completed yesterday when Lt. Com. Stanley M. Haight visited Newport and worked out a program with Mayor Harry Williamson. The ship will arrive in the harbor July 3.

Included in the program will be a softball game between a team from the navy ship and a team to be selected from the harbor district. The game will be played Saturday afternoon at the Newport Harbor High school grounds. Harry J. Estus will take charge of the feature.

On Sunday morning two of the officers from the destroyer and two of the city officials will play a golf foursome at the Santa Ana Country club. On Sunday afternoon there will be a boat race between a team selected from the deck forces of the destroyer. The teams will row against each other in a half-mile race on the bay before the Balboa pavilion.

Timeplan installment financing meets your every loan requirement

"Timeplan" is the copyrighted name which describes all of the various types of installment credit loans with which Bank of America meets the financial needs of the individual. Remember the name "Timeplan"—remember, too, that when you establish your credit at Bank of America by making a Timeplan loan for any purpose, you have established your credit once and for all for making additional Timeplan loans for other financial needs. Timeplan assures you of completely confidential service. Repayment terms are arranged to fit your income.

Real Estate Loans from 1 to 20 years

Under the National Housing Act you may borrow to buy or build a home, any amount from $1000 to $16,000 (up to 80% of appraised value of both lot and improvements, as determined by FHA appraisal). EXAMPLE: If appraised value of house and lot is $5,000, you may borrow up to $4,000. Monthly payments on a 15-year loan are approximately $42, including taxes, insurance, interest and repayment of principal.

Automobile Financing (new or used cars)

Bank of America Timeplan automobile financing brings you a low cost plan for the purchase of a new or used car (not over 3 years old). All arrangements are made with the Bank. You are assured of the lowest financing cost. The plan provides for insurance which protects you, arranged, if you wish, through your own insurance broker or agent.

Personal Loans $50 to $1000

The Bank of America personal loan plan is a convenient source of funds for the payment of taxes, insurance premiums, hospital, medical or dental bills, or for meeting any legitimate emergency. Any employed individual of good character may apply for Timeplan personal loan. The cost of a Timeplan personal loan is exactly $6 per year for each $100 borrowed. You receive the full amount of the loan you require—there are no deductions. Repayment may be made within one year in monthly installments.

Home Appliance Financing (through authorized dealers)

This Timeplan financing is arranged for the convenience of the purchaser entirely through the store or dealer to finance the deferred balance on the purchase of refrigerators, ironers, washing machines and other designated appliances. These loans are completed in the store when the purchase is made and they give you all the advantages of bank credit with repayment arranged in convenient monthly sums.

Modernization Loans under F.H.A.

Timeplan modernization loans, under the provisions of F.H.A., enable the borrower to name the maturity of his loan from 1 to 5 years. Timeplan modernization loans cover the repair, alteration, and modernization of homes, apartments, stores and farm buildings. Rates are the lowest available. Repayment is arranged in monthly sums.

KVOE OFFERS 'MARCH OF PROGRESS'

'Keep Smiling' Program
Will Tell How Ideas
Change With Years

"Why We Do and Why We Don't" is the topic of this evening's "Keep Smiling" broadcast to be made from KVOE at 6 o'clock. It will explain, in terms of "the march of progress," how ideas of 40 years ago would be in decided conflict with those of today due to changing conditions, especially with regard to electrical phenomena and a comparison with the nervous system.

Two band marches, "Gridiron Club" and "King Cotton" by Sousa, will be included in the program.

Four of the most entertaining songs in the repertoire of the Sons of the Pioneers, to include an original composition by Bob Nolan of the group, will be sung by them to night at 8:45. Probably the most famous of all the old cowboy songs, "Whoopee-Ty-Yo-Yo" will open the program, to be followed by the spiritual, "When the Golden Train Comes Down," "Rainbow's End" and another, authentic old cowboy ditty called "Hold Him Down."

Three light classics are programmed for tonight at 8 o'clock to be played by the New York Festival orchestra under the direction of Eugene Florencio, a WPA music project presentation. Selections will include the entr'acte and ballet from the third act of "Raymondo," "Ballet of the Sylphs" from "Dammation of Faust," Berlioz, and "Three Hungarian Dances," Grahms.

Popular dance music, usually hard to find of an early evening, will be available from KVOE between 7 and 8 o'clock.

SUSPECT IN EXTORTION IS NABBED

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—A well-tailored man with an Oxford accent, Ernest Desmond de Hagen, was held in jail today pending arrival of officials from New York City where he is under indictment on extortion charges.

De Hagen, who is also known as "Lord Desmond," expressed willingness to return to New York and assist authorities in the investigation of an alleged extortion case against Alfred E. Smith, jr., son of the ex-governor of New York.

De Hagen's name was mentioned in connection with the Smith case in which Max D. Krone, private sleuth, and Henry Ross, an attorney, have been indicted.

De Hagen, Krone and Ross are under indictment charged with trying to extort $5000 each from Brooklyn, and Anna Graef Drouillard, New York stenographer.

Arrested yesterday while calling for a letter at the general delivery window of the Los Angeles postoffice, De Hagen was booked as a fugitive.

New Deal Fans To Meet July 1

Supporters of President Roosevelt were invited today to attend a meeting at 6:30 p. m. July 1 in the American Legion hall here. A dinner will be served by the Legion auxiliary at 6:30 p. m. Seats will be available for 350, said City Judge John G. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic county central committee.

Following the dinner there will be a musical program, reports on the Philadelphia national convention, introduction of Democratic candidates for office, and organization of an On With Roosevelt club.

Reservations may be made through Joe Peterson, Orange; Mrs. C. C. Violet, Garden Grove; Wayne Harrison, Santa Ana; William Bielefeld, Placentia, and Clyde Baxter, San Clemente.

Seek Owner of Crowing Rooster

Residents of Lacy street don't believe in getting up with the chickens. Especially when one rooster is supposed to be crowing most of the time.

They complained a week ago to police about the crowing and officers went around to see about it. At the address given there was nobody home. The rooster was quiet, too.

And by today they were still looking for the owner, they reported. Neighbors said the rooster hadn't slacked off a bit, either.

TAX MEASURE IS SIGNED BY F.D.R.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—President Roosevelt today signed the new tax bill and the $100,000,000 interior department appropriation bill.

Signing of the long controverted tax measure, designed to raise $800,000,000 through a sweeping revision of corporate taxes and other levies, cleared the President's desk of major legislation passed by the congress just gone home.

The tax act, a compromise between the house and senate, goes a long way toward carrying out suggestions by President Roosevelt for stiff levies on corporation income withheld from stockholders. Advocates of his suggestion contend it will force corporation income into the hands of stockholders, where it will be subject to individual income taxes, while opponents argue it will be harmful to corporations in need of surplus.

FIRES SWEEP LAND NEAR HOLLISTER

HOLLISTER, (AP)—Several hundred fire fighters held lines against brush and range land flames on two fronts in this district today.

Started Sunday, the fire left 5000 acres blackened and swept today toward McPhail peak in the Cienega region, 15 miles south of Hollister.

Another fire raged over several square miles in the Hecker Pass district near Gilroy, some 20 miles north of here.

LIGHTNING STARTS FIRES AT PALMDALE

PALMDALE, (AP)—Blackened wastes marked the course today of three brush fires, started by lightning during a 40-mile-an-hour windstorm in the Mojave desert near Palmdale. A heavy downpour of rain helped county and federal foresters extinguish two of the blazes, and the third finally was halted last night by backfires and chemicals.

DEFER ACTION ON TRANSFER OF EGGER

Parents Urge Officials to Retain Principal at Spurgeon School

Backed by petitions bearing more than 200 names, 50 parents of Spurgeon school pupils last night protested to the board of education the proposed transfer of Walter A. Egger, Spurgeon principal, to principalship at the Logan school for Mexican children.

They declared Egger had improved the school in the two years he has been principal and asked that he be retained. Despite demands of Dr. Lincoln N. Sherrard and others that the matter be "settled once and for all" the board postponed action until a later meeting.

Tells Accomplishments

"Mr. Egger has been a real educator, and we feel that a change at this time would be unfortunate," the petition read in part. Dr. Sherrard said Egger has organized two or three boys' clubs, arranged clubrooms in the school basement, and has eliminated child problems.

"Spurgeon's sixth grade in 1935 was a half year ahead of the average sixth grade in Santa Ana. We consider the change a demotion," said Dr. Sherrard.

Policy Explained

School Superintendent Frank Henderson said it had been the administrative policy to transfer teachers, particularly probationary teachers and sometimes others, to make room for probationary teachers in order that the latter could have experience in more than one field. He said the system was particularly needed in connection with the board's policy of making superior teachers permanent. He cited 38 such transfers during his time here.

Plan Pay Increase

"I suggested to Mr. Egger that he go to the principalship of Logan school in order to develop a program such as we have in the other two Mexican schools, of offering manual and industrial arts," said Henderson. "Mr. Egger has been here eight years, and has taught industrial arts six years. His work in this field attracted attention and he was made a principal."

"It was with no idea at all of demotion. I had plans which probably would have meant an increase in pay."

Other Changes

He said he had considered also shifting Miss Henrietta Horne, principal of Logan school, to Spurgeon school, and Ernest Thompson of Logan to Spurgeon to carry some of the work Egger has been doing.

Dr. Sherrard declared that in addition to a request to transfer to Logan school, Egger was sent notice that if he preferred teaching shop at Lathrop junior high school to the Logan principalship he should request the change immediately.

ALF M. LANDON : : Picture Story Of His Life

Hard times were upon Kansas when Alf M. Landon took office as governor. "We are still spending tax money on the basis of 1929," he told the legislature. "The Kansas farmer's income has dropped 64 per cent from 1929. We know that we must reduce expenditures, just as the farmer knows he must be prepared to tighten his belt against drought, flood, short crops and uncertain markets."

Retrenchment, he decreed, must begin at home—in the executive mansion. He installed a mechanical stoker that cut the fuel bill from $700 to $100 a year. When the legislature, at his request, reduced state and county salaries from 5 to 25 per cent, it refused to pare the governor's $5000 a year. Landon, thereupon, returned 25 per cent of his check to the treasury every month.

Carrying his economy program direct to the state legislature, Governor Landon effected consolidation of bureaus and elimination of unnecessary job holders. His trimming wiped out a $2,800,000 highway department deficit and lowered the cost of operating state institutions 20 per cent.

When Landon ran for re-election in 1934 on his record as a budget balancer he was returned by a majority of more than 60,000 votes—the only Republican governor in the land to win re-election that New Deal year. Throughout the country, political seers, 1936-minded, marked the "Kansas Coolidge" for future reference. Landon turned again to blotting red ink from the state account books.

ELEVATE TWO TEACHERS AS PRINCIPALS

Two elementary teachers were elevated to positions as principals, resignations of five local teachers were accepted, and two new high school instructors were elected as the board of education met last night.

Miss Johanna Eilers of Wilson school was elected a principal, probably to head Lincoln school, and Mrs. Marjorie Dudley of Lowell school was made a principal, probably for Franklin school. Both were voted salaries of $1800 per year.

Three teachers of many years service here resigned—Miss Linda Paula, principal of Lincoln school, who has taught here 30 years; Miss Alma Steward of the same school, who has taught here 33 years, and Miss Sadie McConaughy of Franklin school, who has taught here since 1914. All are retiring. Alvin Reboin, assistant junior college coach last year, resigned to take a position with Huntington Beach High school, and Miss Eloise Owens, who has taught here two years, resigned. She is to be married this summer.

The board ordered letters of appreciation sent to Miss Paul, Miss Steward, and Miss McConaughy.

George E. Hoedinghaus, graduate of U. S. C., was elected to teach high school journalism and English, and Joseph J. Koegler was elected to teach high school social science and physical education, coaching in basketball, football, and baseball. They replace Robert Clarke and Thomas C. Dyer, who were elected previously but accepted positions with other schools. Hoedinghaus' salary is to be $1500 and Koegler's $1600. Miss Rose Ethel Lesh was re-elected cafeteria manager at $100 per month.

HALF-MINUTE NEWS STORIES

(By The Associated Press)

88,000 RETURNED TO JOINT DURING MAY
WASHINGTON.—The labor department reported 88,000 persons were returned to employment during May, and weekly payrolls increased approximately $6,700,000. The department said the total number of persons employed in May was 650,000 greater than in May, 1935, and that weekly earnings were almost $36,000,000 higher.

THREE ALAMEDA CITY OFFICIALS RESIGN
ALAMEDA.—Three city officials resigned yesterday, one of them declaring the action resulted from a situation in civic affairs which bore "all the earmarks of moral turpitude." Those who resigned are City Clerk Sherman G. Blood, City Attorney William J. Locke and Frank Creely, Oakland attorney, assistant to the city attorney.

MELVIN PURVIS WON'T ENTER THE MOVIES
HOLLYWOOD.—Melvin Purvis, former federal agent credited with ending the criminal career of John Dillinger, doesn't want to be a movie actor. He refused an offer made by Fanchon Royer, woman producer, she said, after she presented a contract calling for him to play a leading role in the film, "Capt. X."

BOY WHO FELL THROUGH SKYLIGHT DENIED DAMAGES
SAN FRANCISCO.—A 13-year-old boy who climbed to the attic of a Redondo Beach dance hall and fell through the skylight was held to be a "trespasser" by the state supreme court yesterday, which denied him damages. The boy, James B. Doyle, was injured when he fell through the skylight from a catwalk on June 25, 1932.

Retail Ads in Good Increase

CHICAGO, (AP)—Advertising Age said today the increase in retail advertising, which was 8.3 per cent for the week ended June 13 over the corresponding week last year, "accurately reflects a betterment in retail activity during 1936."

Lineage in the 66 reporting newspapers was 1,370,292 lines better during the week of June 13, totaling 17,957,275 lines. For the year to date, the total was 15,143,984 lines ahead of last year, an increase of 3.8 per cent.

GRAY SENTENCED
Charged with being an habitual drunkard after Deputy District Attorney C. E. Sprague reported in court he had been arrested as drunk 40 times since 1924, Alger Gray was given a six-months suspended jail sentence today. Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison suspended the sentence for two years on condition Gray refrain from drinking for that period.

WEBB EDICT CAN'T HALT POLICE AT BOUNDARY

"Police department . . . What? . . . A man just shot your husband and is running down the street? We'll be right out. What's the address? . . . Oh, no, that's outside the city limits. Sorry, G'bye."

And there's a hypothetical situation that would cause lots of trouble if a recent ruling by Attorney-General U. S. Webb, were taken strictly. The burglar, or the hit-run driver, or any criminal would have a swell chance to get away while officers got out and surveyed for boundary lines. But the ruling won't be closely followed here, said Police Chief Floyd W. Howard today.

Webb, answering an inquiry by Ray Ingels, state director of motor vehicles, ruled that police officers of cities have no authority to escort processions, answer emergency calls, or police public gatherings outside the limits of their own cities.

"It's his way," explained Chief Howard. "Any officer, or any citizen for that matter, has a right to make an arrest for a crime, no matter whose city it's in. If we get a call and go to an address and find it's outside the city, we do what we can at the moment and turn the case over to the sheriff's office later. That's the only sensible thing to do. But it's foolish to think that a police department would refuse to answer an emergency call just because it might be outside the city."

"The only difference is that compensation insurance on our officers only covers them inside the city. If something happens to them, the insurance doesn't hold."

But the legal hairsplitting wouldn't make a bit of difference if the call were urgent and the police were able to get there quickly, Howard said.

"So if you live outside the city limits, and need the service of an officer, it won't make too much difference, the chief explained. Of course the sheriff's office is supposed to handle those things, but police won't be snooty about it if the call comes to them, and there's an officer around."

GOODWILL AIDS STORES PRESENT SEVEN GIFTS

With the active support of the citizens of Orange county, the Goodwill industries has made a $300,000 gain in retail employment during the period from Sept. 1 to June 1, according to information just released by George F. Angne, supervisor of the organization.

From a beginning payroll of $136.85 representing 65 hours of work by 12 persons in the first week of September, the sum has increased to $326.95, which represents the employment of 30 people for 1495 hours during the last week in May. In the nine months about $10,075 was paid for 45,654 hours of labor.

Orange county residents have cooperated heartily with the Goodwill industries, Agne said. The service record shows that nearly 10,000 homes contributed to its work in May. In that month 2603 active contributors were added to a list of 9772.

In May the following articles were donated: 759 filled bags of clothing, 1306 filled bags of paper and 532 pieces of furniture. In that month 2603 active contributors were added to a list of 9772.

The morning chapel services which open each day's business had an average attendance of 547.

Secy. Perkins Aids On Labor Plank

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—Secretary Frances Perkins says she would prefer to arrive at a minimum wage scale for labor by "trying the remaining possibilities under the constitution."

The labor secretary has come here to appear before the Democratic resolutions committee and discuss the labor plank for the Democratic platform.

"Certainly we must put a bottom to such downward spirals of wages as we witnessed in 1932," she said. "But a constitutional amendment would consume valuable time. Maybe we can find a way to establish a minimum wage under the constitution in its present form."

CAR HITS BRIDGE
When his car straddled a curb and hit a bridge brace near Huntington Beach early this morning, Ernest D. Bolster, 42, Los Angeles, was arrested by California Highway patrolmen on drunk driving charges. He was also booked at the county jail on charges of being drunk on a county highway.

Local History Told in Verse

(Believing that new interest will attach to early events in Orange county history through their presentation in verse, The Journal is publishing a series of poems by Robert Gardner of Orange, telling of these incidents.—Editor.)

HIDDEN (ESCONDIDO) 1831

Hidden away in a valley
Far up the Black Star canyon,
There on the grassy hillside,
Horses were quietly grazing,
Indians were camped and contented,
Near to the lower entrance,
Feasting on juicy horseflesh,
Flesh that was pleasing and tasty,
Stolen from Spanish rancheros.
Smoke from the fires was curling,
Giving a quiet foreboding.

Then from the rocks and the oak trees,
Volleyed the death dealing bullets,
Killing the Indian horse thieves,
They who had fought with Apaches,
Crossing the mountains and deserts,
Knew how to battle from ambush,
Knew how to scatter the Indians.
Only the natives that scrambled
Into the gulch and the oak brush
Lived when the battle was over.
None of the white men was injured.
Quickly the horses were driven

PUBLIC WILL USE SCHOOL PLUNGE

Santa Ana High school's swimming pool will be opened to the public Monday for the summer season, the board of education decided last night. It will be operated in conjunction with the WPA summer recreation project, with WPA paying part of the salaries.

Lynn H. Crawford, high school principal, who will be in charge of the plunge, reported that many children had appeared yesterday in anticipation of the program. The board provided that Norman Paul, who heads WPA recreation for the city, will head the swimming pool staff at a salary of $20 a week, to be paid by the schools.

His assistants will be Miss Elizabeth Downie and Miss Marion Parsons, to be paid $10 per week by the board, and Jess Haxton, to be paid by WPA.

Mrs. Mabelle Berman, matron of the girls' gymnasium, will be retained for collections and handling showers and towels.

Out of the mountain valley,
Down through the Santiago,
Back to the rightful owner.
"Death is too good for a horse thief."

Note: William Wolfskill told this story more than 70 years ago. The trappers went after the horse thieves to gain favor with the hostile Spaniards who could not solve their horse stealing problem.

YEARLY DRIVE WILL START IN JULY

Fumigators Overhauling Equipment for Fight Against Scale

One of Orange county's million dollar industries—which operates only six months each year—is getting ready to begin its annual drive today.

It's the citrus fumigation industry, which costs growers more than $1,000,000 a year in a campaign to annihilate millions of tiny scale on orange and lemon trees.

About 150 contractors, large and small, are getting out tents and polishing up equipment for the annual summer attack on red, black, and purple scale, which will begin in two or three weeks and last through September. The winter season runs from December through February.

Climate Aids Scale
More than 60,000 acres of citrus trees will be treated. There are that many in the county, and all of them have scale to some degree. That's the hard part of citrus ranching in Orange county, which shares with Los Angeles county the doubtful distinction of having a lion's share of that trouble.

Climate is one reason for the amount of scale in Orange county, explains Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs. The warmer inland counties are free from some kinds of scale. Another factor is the density of orchards. In Orange county the orchards often run together, and packing houses handle fruit from many different ranches. That makes it possible for pests to spread. In many other counties the citrus areas are separated and easier to control.

Walnut Situation
The average citrus rancher has something like 10 acres of trees. He'll pay about $150 this year, and every other year, for treatment of scale, at the usual cost of $10 an acre.

Walnut trees are getting off a little easier, Tubbs reported. Usually only 60 or 70 per cent have to be treated with spray, and that work's done for this year. There are only 6600 acres of walnuts in the county now, as compared with some 13,000 in 1926. Most of the former walnut acreage is now in citrus.

President Signs Big Relief Bill

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt, late yesterday signed the deficiency bill, carrying $1,425,000,000 for relief.

THAT AN ARMY MIGHT EAT!

... the first American Bank was founded!

Washington's "Continental" were starving, that historic winter of 1870 when the serious history of American banking began. To supply them with rations, a group of Philadelphia citizens founded the Bank of Pennsylvania.

Our country has grown tremendously, our system of banking has gone through many changes since that eventful winter, but in a large sense our banks exist today for the same purpose that first bank was founded: that Americans may live.

Here in Santa Ana you work, earn and invest your money that business may borrow in order to serve your needs . . . a circle in which it is this bank's privilege to serve both sides. Our pride in the part we play is your greatest safeguard.

Pioneer Orange County Couple Celebrate Golden Wedding

Gifts and Flowers of Gold Showered Upon Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fuller at Home Reception

A bride, a bridegroom, a best man, and one guest from among the participants in a wedding solemnized fifty years ago in Santa Ana were brought together again Sunday on the Golden Wedding anniversary of that ceremony of June 21, 1886, which united Miss C. Blanche Drips and Frank G. Fuller, both of this city. To mark the close of their half century of happy married life, Mr. and Mrs. Fuller, assisted by their two daughters, Mrs. Ethel Doty of Hollywood and Mrs. George Vandenberg of Anaheim, held open house from 2 until 8 o'clock Sunday at their home at 313 Fernando street, Balboa.

JUVENILE PICNIC, MONTHLY R. N. A. PARTY HELD

Saturday and yesterday were busy days for members of Magnolia camp, R. N. A., who planned their annual juvenile picnic for the first date, and last night held their monthly pot-luck supper and entertainment.

Harry Fink served as program chairman last night, introducing Mr. and Mrs. Hossmer, who played string duets; Harry Layton, who sang, accompanied by Mrs. J. E. Renfer; Dorene Wussow, Anna Mae Renfer, and Betty Elaine Warren, tap dancers.

Arthur Casey gave two dramatic readings, Harold Jeff sang cowboy songs, and Miss McClary played three accordion numbers. Dancing followed the program.

Swimming and a pot-luck luncheon were features of the Saturday picnic in Anaheim park. It was arranged and directed by Mesdames Herbert Birt, John Smith, Harry Fink, J. A. Blackwell, Lillian Hodges and the Misses Ruth Ellen Dunlap, Ladean Laub, Laura and Ruth Hodges.

JUNE BIRTHDAYS CELEBRATED BY MOTHERS CLUB

June roses for June birthday celebrants were wreathed around a large birthday cake presented by Mrs. Margaret Hill yesterday to six members of the American Legion Mothers club, which met for luncheon and quilting in Veterans hall.

Those celebrating their natal anniversaries were Mesdames Elma McKay, Stanza Penn, Fannie Rose, Hattie Stowe, Amy Stewart and Mabel F. Leach.

Others present, who helped complete the quilt already on the frame, were Mesdames Alma Kellogg, Cora Adams, Iona Sharp, Lydia Robinson, Susie Lamb, Sarah Marvin, Grace Lepper, George Kellogg, Beatrice Ewbank and Carol Rasmussen.

SISTERS RETURN WITH SANTA ANANS

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kubitz of 205 West Seventeenth street have returned from a three-week vacation trip to Crater lake, the Rose Festival in Portland, Ore., and White Salmon, Wash. Their trip was made through Monmouth, Ore.

At Monmouth, they visited Mrs. Kubitz's sisters. Two of her nieces, Miss Emma and Miss Esther Schrader, both teachers in the Monmouth schools, returned home with them for a short stay in Santa Ana.

NEWLYWEDS RETURN FROM YUMA

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Douglas, who were married Saturday at Yuma, will be at home after July 1, at 214 North Olive street, Orange. The bride was formerly Miss Lucille Nelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar L. Nelson of La Habra, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Douglas, Anaheim, former Orange residents. He is a graduate of Orange High school and Fullerton Junior college.

The wedding took place at the Presbyterian manse in Yuma.

DOCTOR AND WIFE LOCATE HERE

A newcomer to the city is Mrs. W. A. Harris, who arrived recently from Centerville, Iowa, to join her husband, Dr. Harris. The latter came to Santa Ana last fall to take over the practice of Dr. J. R. Parks, and he and Mrs. Harris are now located at 2126 North Ross street.

The peace and quiet considered desirable for a contrasted and study will be achieved tomorrow by executive board members of the First Baptist Women's society, when they go far from the sound of street cars and the business world to the Lake Arrowhead cabin of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Harlows' Haven, near the lake, will be the meeting point for the group, whose transportation is being arranged by Mrs. A. F. Hill. Each member is to bring a covered dish for luncheon.

TOROSA REBEKAHS PLAN PARTY

Torosa Rebekahs will be sponsors tomorrow night of a public card party, to be held at 8:30 o'clock in I. O. O. F. hall, following regular lodge meeting. Pin-ochle, bridge and 500 will be played.

87-YEAR-OLD MOTHER HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. A. Jensen of 517 Bush street entertained with a dinner Sunday at their home, honoring Mrs. Jensen's mother, Mrs. E. L. Dorr of Los Angeles.

All of the children or nieces of the 87-year-old honored guest, including Mr. and Mrs. Morley Joyce and Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Joyce, sons-in-law and daughters of Mrs. Dorr, the latter Mr. Joyce celebrating his birthday at the same time. A niece, Mrs. U. L. Robinson of La Habra, was present with Mrs. Dorr's great great nephew, Donald. One great grandchild was also included in the group.

Garden Rites for Santa Anans

In a lovely outdoor ceremony performed Sunday afternoon in the begonia house in the gardens of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Collins on Seventh street, Garden Grove, Miss Fannie Ruth Standifer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Standifer of 411 East Chestnut street, Santa Ana, and Robert Anderson, son of Mrs. A. R. Mott, 508 Minter street, this city, were united in marriage by the Rev. Mr. Harry E. Owings of the Baptist church.

Growing plants of beautiful begonia blossoms formed a background for the bride and groom, and the 45 guests who assembled for the nuptial service at the home of the bridegroom's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Collins. Baskets of pink and orchid gladioli were also arranged around the garden house, and an overhead canopy was formed of greenery and flowers.

The bride, a graduate this year of Santa Ana High school, wore a pretty suit of white gabardine, with white accessories, a blue blouse, and a corsage of garconias. She was attended by Miss Beverly Weindorf, a school chum from her early years and all through high school, who wore a smart suit of blue-grey, with a corsage of pink roses. Larry Cochran of Santa Ana attended as best man.

A reception in the garden followed the bride cutting the first slice of the tiered wedding cake which was topped with a tiny bride and bridegroom. The bridesmaid and Miss Helen Louise Ryherd poured tea.

Mr. and Mrs. Mott are at home at 712 North Bush street in Santa Ana, the former having a position coaching in the WPA recreational program. He is a graduate of Anaheim High school.

The day of his wedding was of special meaning for the bridegroom, being the birthday anniversary of his father, the late Anderson Mott.

WORTHWHILE CLUB PICNICS AT BEACH

Singing, impromptu speeches and a picnic dinner at the Laguna Beach home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Galloway brought members of the Worthwhile club and their husbands together for an enjoyable evening before the club disbanded for the summer.

The host, J. H. Mitchell and Mrs. Mary Herring started the after-dinner program with several songs. Husbands of members were called upon to speak extemporaneously.

In the party were Messrs. and Mesdames C. T. Elise, L. A. Galloway, Bruce Gibson, A. Legasse, J. H. Mitchell, C. F. Millen, George McKinney, J. A. Smiley, Mesdames F. H. Finley, Mary Herring, Ida Meikle, Anna Nelson, Elizabeth O'Brien, Margaret Wiley, Effie Bruner, Sara Brown, William Whithead and Jane McKee; and Mrs. McKinney.

Council Fetes Retiring Head

What Mrs. Ashby Turner of 718 Grand avenue, retiring president of the Orange County Council of Catholic Women, thought was going to be a special business meeting called by the new president, Mrs. Paul Gillespie, turned out to be a party and a delightful social afternoon planned in her honor.

She did not know it, however, until the close of the pretty appointed luncheon held at the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe, when a beautiful book, "The Roman Missile," was presented to her by the council.

Mrs. Ernest Ganahl, newly elected first vice president, made the presentation speech, paying tribute to Mrs. Turner's fine work this past year, during which the council has increased substantially in numbers and in financial strength, as well as in its standing in the diocese.

Mrs. Ganahl presided in the absence of Mrs. Gillespie, who is ill at her home. Others at the speakers' table were Mrs. Turner; Mrs. K. F. Snyder of Anaheim and Mrs. V. A. Rossiter of Santa Ana, past presidents of the council, each of whom gave a short talk; Mrs. J. W. Smith, retiring secretary; Mrs. Ethelbert Johnson, new secretary-treasurer; Mrs. F. F. Mead, retiring treasurer; Mrs. J. P. Murphy, diocesan council secretary; and Mrs. A. Kraemer of Placentia.

Forty members and guests from Anaheim, Fullerton, Placentia, Laguna Beach, and Santa Ana made up the gathering at this final meeting of the year, at the close of which the council adjourned until September. Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Clyde Ashen entertained the group during the afternoon with their delightful story telling, giving a happy ending to the courtesy for Mrs. Turner.

SOCIAL FOLLOWS CHURCH REUNION

Young people of Trinity Lutheran church presented a play and entertained with a social evening Sunday night at the parish hall, following special reunion services for the confirmed held earlier in the evening at the church.

Making up the cast for the play, which was entitled "A Wedding," were Robert Buchheim, George Halberg, Everett Wendorf, L. R. Schmooch, Bernadine Halberg, Dorothy Nielsen, and Maxine Struck.

Emmo Schmooch, son of the local pastor, played a piano solo, "Valse Brillante," by Manna Zucca; and at the close games and refreshments were enjoyed.

Among honored guests at the social was the Rev. Mr. Gerhard Schmooch of Burbank, a member of the confirmation class of 1924 in Santa Ana, who delivered the sermon at the services. He is a brother of the local pastor.

George Halberg, class of '31, Robert Buchheim, '33, and Everett Wendorf, '34, ushered at the service, and Emmo Schmooch, '31, presided at the organ.

ATTEND PARTY FOR SON AND BRIDE

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Caldwell and William S. Caldwell, of the Anchorage studio in Arch Beach, spent Saturday and Sunday in Hollywood as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Beers.

On Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Beers entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Caldwell, son and new daughter-in-law of the Ernest Caldwells, who were married at Tia Juana, Mexico, on May 27.

The bride, who was formerly Miss Madge Clemens of Hollywood, and the bridegroom, who is on the engineering staff of the Metropolitan water district, are making their home in Idaho.

Guests in addition to the honored couple and the Arch Beach visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clemens, parents of the new Mrs. Caldwell; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rosas and two children, Sally and Edward, Jr., her sister and brother-in-law; James D. Clemens, her brother; Mrs. Thelma Create and baby daughter, Aline; and the host and hostess.

NEWLYWEDS CHOOSE LONG BEACH HOME

Foursquare Gospel church in Yuma, Ariz., was the setting on May 29 for an early morning wedding ceremony which united in marriage Miss Jeanne Leonard, daughter of Mrs. H. M. Leonard of Garden Grove, and Louis Basse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Basse of Westminster.

The bride wore a smart tunic style dress of a violet blue shade, and was unattended.

Returning home, the young couple are residing temporarily in Garden Grove, but will move next week to Long Beach. Both of the young people are graduates of Garden Grove High school, and the bridegroom is employed by the Wilmington creamery.

HOSTESS DUO GIVE LUNCHEON FOR O. E. S. OFFICERS

Red and white, colors of the Eastern Star association, conducted the luncheon for the 56th and 57th districts, were used in a two-toned scheme of decorations when Mrs. W. F. DeWolf and Mrs. Glen Lyman entertained Saturday with a luncheon in the former's home, 1102 Fruit street.

Mrs. James Tarpley invited Eastern Star officials present to be her guests at her Arrowhead cabin, July 21. At the same time, Grand Matron Bertie Y. Todd will make her official visit to the Pine Knot chapter, O. E. S.

Mrs. Iva Lee presided at a brief business session. Those present were Mesdames Iva Lee, Orange; Alice Whitaker, Fullerton; Martha Pickering, Huntington Beach; Emma Henry, Garden Grove; Ethel Lietz, Laguna Beach; Line Arnfield, Artesia; Ella Lewis, Norwalk; Gay Kellogg, Yorba Linda; Eva Jarvis, Brea; Alice Herman, La Habra; May Shaugnessy, Buena Park; Jeannette Tarpley, and the hostesses.

ADAMS-SNOW CLAN IN SECOND REUNION

Sixty-five members of the Adams-Snow family gathered in Ferndell, that lovely nook in Griffith park, Los Angeles, last Sunday for their second annual picnic reunion.

Santa Anans in the group were Mr. and Mrs. Cood Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Plumb, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Snow Paul and Jack Snow, Mr. and Mrs. John Gowen, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Doll, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gowen, and the children of the respective families.

One of the couples from out-of-town, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Pettit of Oxnard, were celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary at the time, and were presented with a silver tray. Henry Adams and family of Anaheim were present, that town and Santa Ana, Los Angeles and other surrounding towns being represented in the gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Stevens, Horace Stevens and family and the Horace Snow family were unable to attend.

BETTER GARDENS CLUB ELECTS

Mrs. T. E. McLeod is the new president of the Better Gardens club, which is celebrating its 10th anniversary. Mrs. McLeod was elected secretary-treasurer, as the result of elections held at the final meeting of the year on Saturday.

Mrs. Ethel Finkle entertained the members at a luncheon that day at her home at 1234 South Birch street, serving out-of-doors in her beautiful garden and carrying out an appropriate garden motif. Tables were set out under colorful umbrellas, and refreshments served in little flower pots.

Guests included the Misses Maude and Jeannette Wherry, A. Metzgar, Sarah Southwick, Amy and Norah Reid, Vance Plumb, Henrietta and Chloe Foster, Hazel Thrasher, Esther Rideout, and Lana Brokaw, Mrs. McLeod, Mrs. Grace Wolff, and Mrs. Finkle. The club has adjourned for the summer and will meet next in September.

W. R. C. MONTHLY LUNCHEON

Monthly pot-luck luncheon for members of Sedgwick Women's Relief corps, G. A. R., will be held at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow in M. W. A. hall. Regular corps meeting is slated in the afternoon.

Cake Reveals Betrothal News

Biting off more than she could chew was the experience of one of the guests at an informal post-graduation party given last Friday by Miss Dorothy Amling at the Corona de Mar beach home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Amling of 606 East Chapman avenue, Orange.

A member of this year's graduating class at Santa Ana Junior college, Miss Amling invited a small coterie of her friends to the beach for a final get-together before their vacations take them in many directions.

After several hours of swimming and beach fun, the group returned to the house for dinner, during the dessert course, in the cake serving, one of the guests bit into a capsule in which was a note bearing the message, "Dorothy, Danny, in the fall."

Translated by the hostess and her friends, the small missive announced the betrothal of Miss Amling and Danny Bosch of Villa Park. No definite date was set for the nuptials of the popular young couple.

Mr. Bosch, who is a graduate of Orange High school, and who later attended Davis Agricultural college of the University of California, is engaged in managing his own orange ranch properties at Villa Park, where the couple will make their home after the wedding.

Guests invited to hear the surprise announcement were members of Las Meninas club of the college, including the Misses Edith Kuster, Elsie Kuchel, Florence Dierker, Velma Kuchel, Marie Fitcher, Betty Bryant, Gertrude Amling, and Jean Jordan, all of Orange; and the Misses Mary Wallace, Jewell Allen, Eloise Walker, and Betty Lee, of Santa Ana.

ATTENDING MEET IN SANTA ROSA

Headed by Mrs. Dean Laub, commander of Jack Fisher auxiliary, D. A. V., a group of Santa Ana women are attending state convention of disabled veteran chapters and auxiliary units this week in Santa Rosa.

In the delegation are Mesdames Marguerite Crawford, Betty Murphy, Edna Brown, Genevieve Day, Frances Thacher, Esther Kemper, May Payne, Edith Redford, Ruth Lange, Mercedes Taylor, Rose Edwards, past state conductress, Josephine Harrell, state sergeant-at-arms, Mary Fisher, state executive committee woman, and Miss Lydia Fisher, state conductress.

HEFFNER ENTERTAIN AT BUFFET SUPPER

A summer evening, pleasant companionship and a buffet supper served by Mrs. Robert Heffner combined to make Sunday evening memorable for a group of Mrs. Heffner's friends, who gathered at their home, 1527 West Eighth street.

Following supper, served at a table centered by rose and lavender sweetpeas, the group played monopoly. The luckiest at this game were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Easton, Long Beach, who received score prizes.

Others present included the host and hostess, Dr. and Mrs. Perry Davis, the Eatons and Messrs. and Mesdames Virgil Hammond, Anaheim, and Clarence Sackerson.

Symptoms of Gall Troubles Are Erratic

By Claud North Christman, M.D.

The presence of gall bladder inflammation and gall stones is one of the very commonest of abdominal conditions. It occurs usually after 30 years of age and in well-nourished and hearty eaters.

I am not at all sure that eating heavily has any definite connection with the disease. But those who become heavy in middle life are prone to gall stones.

Gall bladder trouble may come on suddenly with pain in the liver, high fever and severe illness, but usually it creeps on the patient slowly.

The first indications are vague pains and distress, which the patient calls indigestion. The patient tells his doctor he has indigestion and stomach trouble. He diets, blames his trouble on one food and then another. Soon he becomes afraid to eat anything.

He goes to the drug store and buys all kinds of digestive medicines. He takes soda, cups of it, pepsin and effervescent alkalies.

The attacks follow no pattern. He may be taken suddenly with a severe pain in the pit of the stomach after a hearty meal. There is a bloated feeling as if the stomach were distended with gas.

He may not be sick, but wants to empty the stomach in hope of getting relief. The pain may double him up in a knot. He is covered with cold sweats and suffers spasms of pain. Then suddenly the pain subsides and in a short time he is well.

The next day he feels fine and stays that way for a few days, or weeks, or months, when another attack comes on. This time it may come when the stomach is empty and the diet light. The fullness and pain gradually increase and the stretching, bursting misery starts again. After a half hour or more of this, relief comes and he is well for another spell.

Attacks may get more frequent and usually with no definite reference to eating. They are most common during the night. There is no regularity in the attacks. After persisting with more or less frequency for a long time, they may suddenly disappear and not return at all.

When this happens it is either due to the passing into the bowel of all the stones, or else they become large and do not move around and pinch the tissues. So the pain is gone.

Texas Recipes Winning Fame

Texas' big birthday party, marking the 100th anniversary of its freedom in the great centennial celebration this year, is having a far-reaching influence on food.

Here are two favorite recipes from the Lone Star state:

Texas Barbecue

Make a sauce from 1/4 cup vinegar, 1/4 cup catsup, 2 tablespoons butter, 1/2 teaspoon each of paprika, black pepper and chili powder and 1 teaspoon salt. Cook slowly until the mixture thickens, then brush it over your tender steaks, cut in individual portions. Broil, turn and brush the other side with the barbecue sauce, continue brushing with more sauce as the steaks broil. Serve with hot buttered rice.

Praline Bananas
Peel 4 firm but ripe bananas, cut in halves lengthwise and saute for 1 minute in a small amount of melted butter. Place on a well-greased baking dish. Mix 1/2 cup brown sugar and 1/4 teaspoon salt and sprinkle over the bananas. Pour 1 tablespoon lemon juice and then 1 tablespoon melted butter and then 1/2 cup chopped pecan meats. Bake in a moderately hot oven for 10 minutes. Serve hot.

At the close, Mrs. W. A. Lawrence served refreshments, assisted by the Misses Y. C. Shidler, C. A. St. John, Charles Clayton and F. A. Stiwell. Others present were the Mesdames C. M. Marvin, O. S. Waters, J. H. Patton, A. W. Matthews, G. W. Duke, C. C. Thrasher, E. W. Ellis, J. H. Randall, J. W. Jones, F. L. Berkland, G. L. Helms, E. R. Kimmel, C. E. Fisher, W. M. Graybiel, J. W. Perkins, and Swanger, and Miss Katherine Rousseau, all of Santa Ana, and Mrs. A. L. Kohler of Anaheim, auxiliary members, and Mrs. Marah Adams of this city and Mrs. Lena Kroell of Louisville, Colo., guests.

The next meeting will be on July 13 at the Berkland home, 1006 Hickory street, with Mrs. Neil Adams as co-hostess.

FAREWELL PARTY FOR MRS. MARS
Among interesting parties of the week will be the dessert bridge which Mrs. Clyde Bach has planned for Thursday at her home at 832 Garfield avenue to honor Mrs. W. E. Mars.

The affair will be a farewell courtesy for Mrs. Mars, who by Mr. Mars, is leaving this Saturday for a motoring trip to the east coast. Three tables of bridge have been arranged by Mrs. Bach for the day.

BEGIN SEARCH FOR MISSING KITTEN
Empty — one kitten's basket. Empty — the affectionate hands that tended a gray and white fluffy ball that came running on wobbly legs, when called.

Mrs. B. W. Veale, 1107 Highland street, is hunting hopefully today for the lost kitten. On Sunday she gave it to her daughter, Mildred, now Mrs. George Clewett, to take to the Clewetts' Escondido home.

The pet was to replace another kitten, given to Mrs. Clewett following her wedding in June, 1935. Last week the first kitten died. Now his substitute has disappeared.

Mrs. Veale is hoping that some one will call her soon, or come up the walk with the kitten safely snuggled in his hands.

Meet Your Neighbor

The Journal's compilation of Orange County People You Should Know.

Name: Seymour Brown. Occupation: Rexall Drug store No. 1.

Home address: 306 South Main street. When and where were you born? Rochester, Minn., Oct. 28, 1899.

What is your hobby? Studying humanity in general. What is the hardest task you ever encountered? Working 12 to 14 hours a day in a drug store isn't bad.

What career offers the greatest opportunity to young men and women? Specializing in biology.

What bit of news has interested you most recently? War news throughout the world. If you were editor of The Journal what one change would you make in the paper? None.

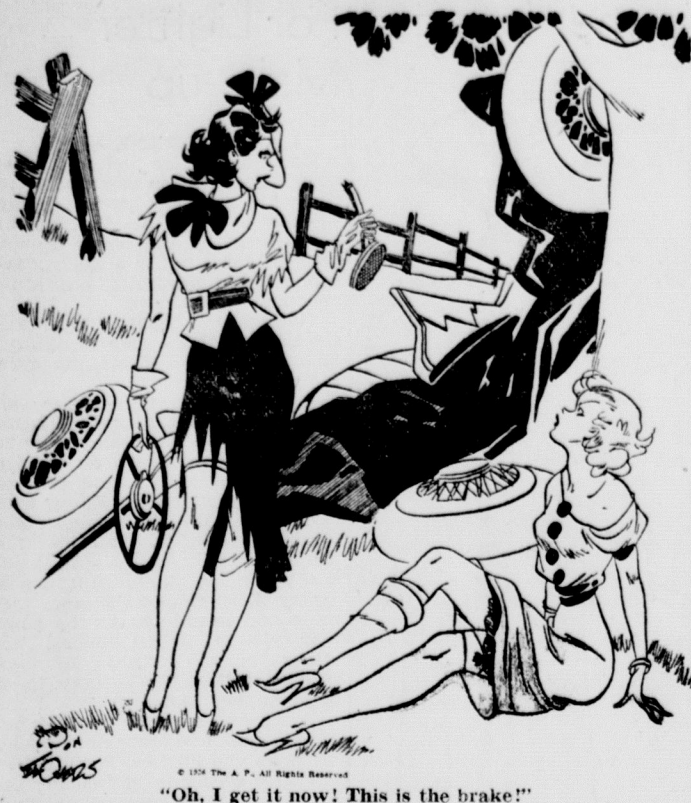

What do you like best in The Journal? News and Skippy's column. What one thing would help Santa Ana most? More parks, such as the one in Anaheim.

What in your judgment is the most important problem facing the world today? The problem of keeping all nations out of war and finding a solution to uniting all nations in a plan of disarmament to prevent the total destruction of the human race, and using the money thus saved to benefit mankind and to experiment upon the ailments that destroy health and happiness.

PATTERN 5639

Who of us ever has enough dollies? Here's a lovely, lacy pattern that's quickly multiplied to give you as many dollies and place mats as your heart desires. Just humble string makes the three practical sizes, which are indispensable for Summer or year 'round hostessing. You can do them entirely in one or in two colors.

In pattern 5639 you will find complete instructions for making the dollies shown; an illustration of them, and of all the stitches needed; material requirements; color suggestions.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal Household Arts Department, 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

New Deal in Bad Spot

ALTHOUGH several of the belligerent Democratic bosses assembled in Philadelphia still stoutly declaim that President Roosevelt will carry all 48 states next November, it is clearly apparent to unbiased observers that New Deal stock is on the skids.

The national rating of the administration has taken an awful tumble in the past 10 days.

It started when the Republicans were smart enough to select Gov. Alf Landon of Kansas as their nominee instead of some reactionary Old Guard—with the result that there is now a chance to win back those millions of liberal Republicans who swung over to Roosevelt in 1932.

The cutting, straight-from-the-shoulder speech of Republican Chairman John D. Hamilton last night in New York was pitched in a clean, militant key which indicates the coming G. O. P. campaign may attract many more votes from the New Deal ranks before the final day next fall.

Administration stock suffered another slump when Al Smith and his four companions "took a walk." True enough, Smith's demand that Roosevelt be ousted and "a genuine Democrat" put in his place won't have any effect upon the Philadelphia convention or the New Deal political machine.

But it sits straight with countless conservative Democratic voters, especially in the Eastern states, where the radical element of the party is losing out.

While the conservatives threaten to walk out, there is another danger to the New Deal at the opposite extreme, where Representative Lemke has set up a third party designed to seine in all the radical and inflationist vote of the central states.

President Roosevelt and "Three-Job" Farley may feel confident over the outlook as Democratic clans gather in the City of Brotherly Love to place a rubber stamp on the platform and to nominate their leader by acclamation.

Perhaps they will be able to ride safely through a walk-out of former Republicans, conservative Democrats and radical inflationists.

But the storm warning has been hoisted. They had better look for a cellar. There seems to be a cyclone brewing on the Kansas prairie.

Being naturally cautious, we are willing to bet a dollar that the Democrats will nominate F. D. R. for president. The line forms on the right. Please bring your dollar.

So the Blind May Read

TWO THOUSAND "talking book machines" have been completed and given nationwide distribution by the library of congress.

These are, in effect, old-fashioned phonographs, capable of playing records which run from 15 minutes to half an hour. For these machines, 175,000 records, covering literature from the Old Testament to the latest fiction, have been made in the past two years.

Congress appropriates $75,000 each year to make new records for the blind. No governmental appropriation is more worth while than this one.

The pleasure of reading, of developing the mind through the written thoughts of others, is a precious privilege which we who can see, too often take for granted.

Those who are blind appreciate the true value of reading. If you have ever read to a blind friend, and watched his face as he followed with breathless attention every word, you will know this is true.

It is a real privilege for a government to be able, in this way, to bring light into lives that have been darkened forever.

As the years go on, more good than the pleasure of bringing joy to the blind will result from this work. Some of our sightless men and women, through the education they obtain from these government reading records, may be able to repay the world a thousand fold by writing some deathless piece of literature.

Milton, you'll remember, was blind when he wrote "Paradise Lost."

A row of dots in a modern novel means proceed at your own risk.

Uniformity of the Law

THE WESTERN FEDERATION OF WOMAN'S CLUBS has gone on record as favoring more uniform laws, in our various states, on divorce, traffic, crime and narcotics.

A great deal of confusion that exists in law enforcement circles is caused by the differences of laws in different states. A crime in one state is no crime in another; a ground for divorce in certain states is not recognized in others.

Criminals are quick to take advantage of such loopholes. Several times, killers lured their victims from states, in which murder is punished by death, into adjoining states where life imprisonment is the penalty.

The recent splendid record of the G-men, in capturing America's major criminals, is an example of how uniform law aid honest officers in their work. Unhindered by state red tape, working only under federal jurisdiction, they have been able to move quickly and efficiently, making captures which were impossible to equally honest officers who were confined in their work to their own states.

Uniformity of state laws would appreciably speed up the wheels of justice. This uniformity could be obtained by mutual agreement, without the individual state surrendering any of its sovereign rights.

In liberalism, in granting equal rights to women, in legislation protecting the weak, our western states have taken the lead. Now the Western Women's clubs have shown us a new goal—the coordination of our laws for the better administration of justice to all.

Whimsies

of O. O. McIntyre

Critics sometimes hail a flop play with merry essays and audiences often go out chuckling. But to me such a failure is heart-rending. To see a play, stricken by ineptitude, fall and fail, and linger on, dying through a slow last act. There is a damp chill to the audience. And the glazed eyes of the actors are like starving shipwrecked wretches on a raft. Almost always there is one dauntless old timer forcing her points, fighting to the last with strident voice, hopeless but shouting in while the others sink into the death apathy.

O. O. McIntyre

Heart-rending such a spectacle because one knows no matter how bad, how silly, how incredible the play and the talk, some author has spent on it, days and nights of hard thinking, the best he knew was put into it, and actors have tried for weeks to animate his poor thing with palestric gestures and smiles.

In the background, too, fairly wringing his hands is some poor fool of a manager who has been hypnotized out of thousands of dollars. He has been flattered, lied to, cajoled to ruin. And an audience of hypocrites rejoice at the calamity while actors sneak to unpaid-for hotel rooms to forget.

For several seasons somehow the theater audiences have been usually more interesting to me than what goes on on the stage. The blatant lady with the smaragdine finger pointing to celebrities and talking out loud. The dowager in the lounge puffing a small cigar. It was Emily Dickenson, I think, who wrote: "The show is not the show, but they who go." At first nights the theater enthusiasm is always false. Pumped out to give the impression they know the star. Every performance reveals a study in the emotional laxity—no eyes, open mouths and sudden starts. The true aristocrats are the Chinese, the American Indian and the Ritz waiter. They never show emotion.

Jersey Justice Jab: In "Murder at the Old Red Barn," when the villain is foiled and asks: "What can I do?" a voice screams: "Send for Governor Hoffman!"

A recent probe revealed the once serene residential gem of West Side streets, Seventy-second, as the core of organized vice—many of the ornate apartment houses being a cluster of bachelors and houses of call. The decline of the wide thoroughfare that extends from Central Park to the Hudson set in with the headline splash of the battle royal between Frank Tinney, the comedian, and Imogene Wilson, the Polles beauty. It was the first discordant note ever to crash the morning hours of the neighborhood. Much of the vast building operations of the late Daddy Browning centered there. It was the home of the Huylers, Knoxes, Dunlaps and Strausses.

A hardware dealer tells me that the next day after the Nancy Titterton murder in fashionable Beekman place there wasn't a door chain to be had in the entire town.

Phil Spitalney—to achieve with that name is accomplishment—has the most successful of the girl orchestras—at least on the radio. It has been tooling for two years. The leader requires each member to sign a pledge not to marry while with the unit. Not one has broken her word. They keep harmony in the organization by imposing fines for such offenses as outbursts of temper, unnecessary arguments and tardiness at rehearsals. The great trouble with the girl orchestras in the past has been keeping peace within the ranks.

Many years ago, when Rudyard Kipling had a summer home near that of Julia Marlowe in England, the actress was convalescing from a long illness. One day the author sent one of his books autographed thus:

When the skies are gray instead of blue,
With clouds that come to dishearten,
Don't weep, don't wail
And don't take to tipping
But cheer yourself up
With a little tale by Neighbor Rudyard Kipling.

When I loitered before a window of electric shavers on West 57th street today, the lady with me urged: "Why not? You've always wanted a little shaver in your home."

Broiled spring chicken.
Yellow bantam corn.
Peach cobbler.
Strawberry shortcake.
Thanks, just a little more.

Today there is no such thing as a failure, a man either becomes a success or a vice president.

If a dog bites a man, that is not news; but if a dog bites a bill collector, that is perfectly all right with us.

The Merry-Go-Round

PHILADELPHIA. — Although not many good old Jeffersonians will admit its seriousness, the Democratic party this week faces a milestone more vital than the task of nominating a candidate.

It is the old old clash over the two-thirds rule, which for exactly 104 years has made Democratic conventions more unwieldy and obstinate than the animal the party claims as mascot.

The two-thirds rule is the mother of dark horses, and has made the Democratic party, at times, the laughing stock of the Republicans.

It has also played an important part in the international destinies of the nation. Had it not been for the two-thirds rule, it is possible that there would have been no war with Mexico, and that our course in the World War would have been different.

The two-thirds rule is chiefly a hang-over from slavery days, when the South insisted on keeping it in order to have a hard-and-fast veto power against any northern candidate unfriendly to the economic system of the South.

BALTIMORE BIRTH

Actually, however, it was originally introduced for the sole and insignificant purpose of preventing the four delegates from the District of Columbia from controlling the balance of power in the 1832 convention. This was the first party convention at Baltimore, attended by delegates from nine northern states and 11 southern. They were almost evenly divided in number, and the four from the District of Columbia held the key to majority control.

These four were: Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner"; Thomas F. Mason of Alexandria (then part of the district); John P. Van Ness, and Henry M. Moffit.

In order to prevent them from holding the balance of power, Preserved Fish (this was his real name), political leader in New York, proposed the two-thirds vote.

VAN BUREN'S FIGHT

The rule did not really start to cause trouble until 1844, when Martin Van Buren, who had succeeded Jackson for one term, and then lost out in the next election to William Henry Harrison, came up for nomination again.

Van Buren had an easy majority, but those pledged to vote for him were really more interested in defeating him. Reason for this was his stand on the annexation of Texas. Texas was looked upon by the South as potential slave territory, and Van Buren was against its annexation.

Therefore the two-thirds rule, which had been allowed to lapse for eight years after the 1832 convention, was revived. Van Buren's majority melted and eventually James K. Polk of Tennessee, the first dark horse in American politics, was nominated.

Van Buren came back in the convention of 1848 determined to get the two-thirds rule rejected. He lost out by a vote of 118 to 146. Once again he was able to get a majority on the first ballot.

but once again failed to gain the necessary two-thirds for nomination.

STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS

Democratic conventions since then have seen a series of attempts to get rid of the drag anchor two-thirds rule, culminating with the attempt at Philadelphia this week.

In the convention of 1856, Stephen A. Douglas opposed the rule and controlled enough delegates to block any other candidate. However, when his opponent, Buchanan, received a majority vote, Douglas withdrew on the ground that he had been consistently in favor of rule by majority and should carry out that principle.

Just before the Civil war in 1860, the Democratic convention at Charleston split into two factions, and Douglas received a worthless nomination by a two-thirds vote of his faction.

CHAMP CLARK

The most vigorous effort to change the two-thirds rule prior to that now made by Senator Bennett Clark—was made by his father, Champ Clark, a famous speaker of the house of representatives.

Clark began as early as 1904, when he was chairman of the St. Louis convention which nominated Alton B. Parker. Immediately after the nomination, a telegram was presented—not unlike the one recently received from Governor Landon—which quoted Parker as saying:

"The gold standard is established by law, and I cannot accept the nomination unless that plank is contained in the platform."

The Free Silverites were furious, and Champ Clark and his Missouri delegates immediately saw a way to take advantage of it to oust Parker from the nomination.

It was planned that a delegate would rise to ask how the nomination could be rescinded. Chairman Clark was to reply that the convention would have to suspend the two-thirds rule, which could be done by a majority vote. After suspending the two-thirds rule, Parker could be ousted by a majority vote.

However, the matter was dropped.

Champ Clark later became a victim of the two-thirds rule during the famous Baltimore convention of 1912. On the first ballot he got a majority and continued his lead for 30 ballots. It was not until the forty-sixth ballot that Woodrow Wilson finally won the nomination.

CHICAGO IN 1932

One of the major objectives of Franklin Roosevelt at the Chicago convention in 1932 was to erase for all time the two-thirds rule. So much opposition developed, however, that a compromise was proposed by Richard Metcalf of Nebraska, a Roosevelt supporter, providing for suspension of the two-thirds rule if nomination was not made during the first six ballots.

This was approved by the rules committee, 30 to 20, but only after strenuous lobbying by Jim Farley, Bruce Kremer of Montana, and other Roosevelt stalwarts.

LANDON'S ANSWER

To the Editor: In a speech I heard him deliver at the Union League Club, New York, about 15 years ago, the late Senator Chauncey M. Depew, said, that the following excerpt from a speech delivered by Benjamin Disraeli, (Lord Beaconsfield) in October 1873, in a tirade against the Gladstone Ministry, did more to defeat that government in the following election, than all other speeches, newspaper articles and campaign literature combined:

"Mr. Disraeli severely censured the Gladstone Ministry, as having harassed every trade, worried every profession, and assailed and menaced every class, institution and species of property in the country, and also stating that the country has made up its mind to close this career of plundering and blundering."

The foregoing, is a copy of the letter I sent to Governor Landon, Dec. 23rd last, and the enclosed letter is a copy of the one I received from him on Jan. 2, acknowledging receipt of same. I asked him, if the above quotation didn't remind him somewhat of the present administration at Washington, and that it might be used to good effect in his coming campaign for the Republican nomination for president. Now that he has received the nomination, I prize the letter more highly.

LESTER S. PARMENTER, Orange.

The Answer

My dear Mr. Parmenter: Thank you for your letter of Dec. 23rd, with the accompanying suggestion, which I have read with a great deal of pleasure. I am glad to have your views and appreciate your cordial expression of good will.

Right now I am busy with my job as governor of the state of Kansas, but it is nevertheless very heartening to me to observe your lively interest in national affairs. The very well-springs of good government have their sources in an enlightened public interest.

As the situation develops, I shall be glad to hear from you again. Best wishes.

ALF M. LANDON, Governor.

What Other Editors Say

POLITICS INFLUENCE DISCUSSION

(Garden Grove News)

This is what is known as a political year, which means that issues are not discussed, studied or debated upon their merits but upon their election.

Men and women in the public eye watch what they say about any subject. They fear distorted interpretation in the interest of political effect. Sometimes the unexpected reaction comes from within their own party although more often the expression is seized by opponents for such manipulation as may seem fruitful.

Even newspapers are not immune from attack. Editors hesitate to say anything good about the "other side" or to give publicity to what may prove beneficial to the enemy. Like the politicians, editors adopt campaign tactics and play the "safe strategy," praising their particular party and denouncing the opposition.

I wonder if it ever occurs to these leaders of public opinion that the people, after all, have some sense and are able to recognize such tactics?

One Man's Opinion

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Age-Old Freedoms Strike Against Their Fetters

A ZOO elephant went wild and killed his keeper. Maybe, something snapped in his little brain, setting fire to the suppressed hatreds of all his captives. Perhaps the humiliations, the torment of gazing spectators, the prods and thrusts of the trainer's pike, the deadening monotony of nothing to do, the torture of prison walls, the unending repression of six tons of energy—all of this pressure, perhaps, was too much for him who was born lord of the jungle.

The law solemnly condemned this elephant to a merciful death. No witnesses appeared for the defendant. None to tell how much he had suffered. None to mention the thousands of times he had forgiven if not forgotten the tyranny and cruelty of his masters. None to say that outraged nature, bereft of justice and robbed of nobility, cried out for vengeance. Men may kill elephants and call it sport. An elephant strikes back at his tormentor and it is called murder.

So the law, human law, took its course. The judge sentenced, jailers chained the guilty brute, a firing squad leveled rifles. Then a reprieve and a stay of execution. Again the rifles. Steel slugs plow through the quivering flesh, and the huge bulk topples to the ground. He that was planned to match the plains and hills and forests turned into a hillock of nerveless carrion.

Men likewise run amuck in this prison called civilization. For 10 million years the lord of creation stalked over the face of the earth. He was monarch of all he surveyed. He was buffeted by fate, punished with hunger and cold, the prey of a hundred fears, but he was free. He knew the meaning of suffering and death, but never the galling confinement of city slums. He governed himself by the rise and set of suns, but he was never the victim of clocks and bells and whistles. The incessant racket of modern life did not drive him frantic. He had time and desire to scan the heavens above and gather in the abundance of the earth beneath his feet.

So men today strike back at the walls which imprison them. We call it criminality or insanity or degeneracy. Something snaps in their little brains, too, and long suppression bursts forth in violence. Like Napoleon caged on his lonely isle, or the chained elephant tugging at his fetters, the soul of modern man revolts against the cruelty which his own cunning and stupidity have inflicted upon himself. To gain security he forfeits his freedom. And in losing his freedom his security vanishes in a cloud of fears.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKRIBBIN

It took boats and trains and trucks and maimen to bring me a card from Vancouver, B. C., sent by George Jeffrey, who with Mrs. J. is en route to Alaska. The view is from Prospect Point, Stanley Park. It shows two steamers, with one should have been enough to show George the scenery. But he insists that the "two bucks" it cost him to take the ride was much less expensive than some other rides he has taken, and he got his money's worth out of the natural beauty of the surroundings. If he keeps on sending me those scenic cards I'll be tempted to believe that he's goin' sentimental.

Notice an editorial in one of the papers under the caption: "The Truth About China." I thought Confucius settled that a long time ago. Now I got to wait until some missionary comes home so I can get the low-down.

Ride out West Fourth just to see if the P. E. tracks turn to the north like they used to. There isn't much change along the street until you get to the 900 block and then you find out that Charley Kelly is still the "sole owner of his own name." So far as my recollection runs there hasn't been any change in ownership for the last 30 years. About all the difference that I have been able to notice during that time has been in avoirdupois, but even that hasn't made any difference in ownership. Charley still owns all the way round the abdominal belt, but it takes him longer to get around than it takes me.

Why print newspapers? A bunch of politicians are going to Topeka July 23 to tell Alf Landon he has been nominated for the presidency of the United States by the Republican party. That's makin' about the same time the old stage coach did.

Bill Deimling comes in to "discuss" politics and before he left he had discarded the first three letters. Bill and I agree. If we could get the rest of the voters to accept our advice there wouldn't be any use to nominate but one ticket, but there seems to be a lot of other fellows who disagree with us. Consequently the regular election will take place in November.

Pete Beissel and Otto Witt are home from a trip into the midwest. Pete is an old Minnesotan, so he went back to take another look at the state. Crop outlook is encouraging. Politics as variegated as the rainbow. Highway competition has given to the tourists cement roads so that a trip by auto is a pleasure instead of a hardship. The state which has the best highways gets the most travel. And the most travel buys the most gasoline, helps boost the cafe patronage, and accounts for incidental improvements in business. People spend money when they travel. It is one of the penalties, but I haven't ran across very many who object to the expense. The better the accommodations the more attractive to the people who are in motion—and most of the world is restless.

Met Forrest Jones with a suitcase in each hand. It looked like a vacation to me, but when he started to talk about merchandise I decided he was a traveling salesman.

It is dangerous enough to be riding in a car along the highway, but when you start to walking that seems to me the peak risk. But if that is the only transportation you have there isn't any choice. If you have good eyesight, a chitically equipped and your hearing is keen, you have some chance of getting to your destination all together, but I'm not using the highways. I have enough trouble inside the city limits.

"Just married" car swishes by filled with hilarious young people blowing horns and inferentially advising that a clear road is desired, and you interfere at your own risk. But youth is happy and care-free and seeks the open road for Elysian expression. But, gosh, if you are not going to be happy when "just married" when are you going to be happy?

Jess Elliott was elected president of the Orange County Employees association, because they got to see him first. Maybe he has other qualifications. I'll ask him when he gets in my way. Either through the preference or an inadvertence Earl Abbey was picked on to take charge of the money, but he will be able to account for it when the time comes. Sandwiched in between these two Republicans is one lone Democrat—James Sleepers, who came out of the election with the vice presidency snugly ensconced in his vest pocket. You see, he put it in his vest pocket so he won't have to go so far for it. I've got an idea that with this official triumvirate the county association is going to get along for another year without asking Earl for money. I guess you can get money from 'em, either goin' or comin'.
